THIRD DEATH IN PRINCE RUPERT SHOOTING

MANION AND MacPHERSON IN LEADER RACE

Indications Chief Battle at Conservative Convention Between Them

Stevens Still Is Mystery Man

OTTAWA (CP)—Following the arrival in Ottawa of Murdock A. MacPherson of Regina, all candidates for the leadership of the Conservative Party were present as the National Convention, its keynote speeches completed at the forenoon session, swing into the afternoon. The line-up of aspirants remained the same, but mystery surrounded the intentions of the present leader, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett.

So far Mr. Bennett had not receded from his position, announced on various occasions in the past few months, that he intended to withdraw. Strong efforts have been made to have him reconsider his decision, with what success can not be ascertained at noon today.

Strong delegations poured in from the west today, bringing vocal evidence of support for Mr. MacPherson. The deduction was that the former Saskatchewan Attorney-General would be a powerful contender.

QUEBEC VIEWS

Quebec's representatives continued to engender considerable enthusiasm for Hon. R. J. Manion. The "Manion button" was prominent. They were confident the former Minister of Railways would make the "grade."

Loyalties of the Ontario delegates were distributed. The names of Hon. J. Earl Lawson, Denton Massey and Joseph Harris seemed to be less prominent on the tongues of Ontario's representation. The portents appeared to point to a great contest between Manion and MacPherson.

Hon. H. H. Stevens still remains the "mystery man." He has not yet issued any statement of hopes or intentions.

This afternoon a committee of the convention interviewed all candidates, their purpose being to ensure that no names will be put forward in caprice, and that all who are named intend to go right through with it.

The convention is being held in the Coliseum Building on the Ottawa Exhibition grounds, where the leadership election is expected to be held Thursday afternoon.

Lieut.-Col. George Drew reached the city today. At one time his name was mentioned as a possible contender for the leadership; but with the convention now in progress, he has not appeared as a serious aspirant.

Co-operation For Defence Is Urged

Empire Keynote Speech By Meighen at Conservative Convention

OTTAWA (CP)—Full co-operation with the United Kingdom for the defence of Canada and the British Empire in a world threatened with civilization-destroying war was urged on the National Conservative Convention here today by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in a keynote speech.

His words brought delegates to their feet in prolonged cheering.

"Have we come to the hour in this country when Canada locks the gate on Britain when Britain asks to train her own subjects here for her own purposes?" he asked, commenting on Prime Minister King's recent declaration the government would not consent to the establishment of British flying schools in Canada.

"If we call ourselves partners in this Commonwealth, let us behave as partners behave when they have a common purpose and when they know that purpose is right."

"Let us live and work on the assumption that partnership is one we want to endure, a partnership we want to deserve, and a partnership we are proud to own."

ASKS DECLARATION

For two reasons Mr. Meighen pleaded for a strong declaration from the convention, and later from the Canadian people as a whole in favor of co-operation in the defence of the Empire. One was that it was the best way of securing the safety of Canadian homes and institutions of government. The other was a personal one, that he and his fathers had lived till now "within the British shield," and wished to continue so.

The second reason might not appeal to all Canadians, but there could be no question about the universal appeal of the first. It was not a view which was shared by Conservatives only. It was

Frank Buck Gets Bite From Python

AMITYVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Frank Buck, big game hunter and circus performer, nursed a lacerated index finger today, the result of a python bite suffered yesterday at his Massapegua Zoo.

Buck was forcibly feeding the python, which had been on a hunger strike, when the 24-foot constrictor suddenly snapped its jaws shut on his finger.

Convention Figures

When the National Conservative Convention was opened in Ottawa this forenoon and temporary chairmen and other officers took charge until permanent officers could be named, the heaviest part of the work of John R. MacNicol, M.P. (left above), and Gordon Grayson, M.P. (right), was over. Mr. MacNicol, who represents Toronto-Davenport in the Commons, was chairman of the committee which for weeks past was kept busy making preparations for the convention. Mr. Grayson, M.P. for Peel, Ont., was secretary of the committee. In the background of the picture is seen the Parliament Hill statue of Sir John A. Macdonald.

Haugwitz Demanded Countess Pay Him Sum Of $5,000,000

London Court Hears Barbara Hutton's Charges Husband Threatened Her

LONDON (AP)—Counsel for Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow today accused her titled Danish husband of demanding £1,000,000 ($5,000,000), and their two-year-old son, Lance, in return for a divorce.

In the course of two and a half hours of testimony in the Bow Street police court, the count also was accused of threatening to shoot an unnamed London society man "like a dog."

The Woolworth heiress, sheathed in a black coat and furs, kept her eyes on the back of her husband's head as her counsel declared he had threatened to "put her on the spot" and had laughed at a proferred gift of £50,000 ($250,000) as "an insult."

The hearing was adjourned until July 13. Today's testimony was on the countess' charges that her husband had placed her in fear of her life. He was released on bail of £2,000, as in the case of his first hearing last Friday immediately after he had returned from France to face his wife's charges.

SOLICITOR TESTFIES

Sir Patrick Hastings, K.C., counsel for the countess, examined William M. Mitchell, her solicitor, who related a long series of threats the count was alleged to have made in Paris.

It was charged he talked of a "duel" with a man, called his wife obscene names, threatened to seize his son and "give Barbara three years of hell and headline." He hinted, too, of suicide, it was further charged.

On cross-examination Mr. Mitchell testified the count was

Torch-Bearing By Roosevelt

On Pacific Coast Trip He May Speak For Liberals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt will start out Thursday on a journey to San Francisco which may become the most spectacular bit of political torch-bearing he ever has done.

Such evidence of his intentions as can be gleaned from his own remarks indicates he is on the verge of striking a bold new course in politics—of venturing personally into realms which he previously left to his lieutenants.

The new course was outlined in a recent radio speech. Its purpose will be to keep in Congress those the President conceives to be "liberals" and to replace with new men so far as possible he conceives to be "conservative."

Previously the President has put in good words personally only for Senate Leader Barkley of Kentucky and of Senators Duffy of Wisconsin and McAdoo of California. Now it appears he may give up indirection in many cases.

The forthcoming trip to the west coast will indicate how far Mr. Roosevelt intends to go in his personal intervention in primary elections.

TROUSERS NEEDED

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Victime of this city's current menace, the "Portland pants pilferer," gladly would trade coats and vests for trousers. Dr. Paul Bailey reports that following a visit from the thief, he has four coats, four vests, no trousers.

Feeding Men Is Difficult Task

Jobless Will Ask Right to Tag on City Streets; More Men Here Today

Faced with the problem of feeding 700 men, starting tomorrow, leaders of the single jobless in Victoria today planned to appeal to the City Council for permission to go "tin-canning" on city streets.

Two hundred men began a trek from Nanaimo to Victoria and will reach here tomorrow, traveling in sympathizers' cars.

R. W. Campbell, publicity agent for the men here, said he will ask the finance committee of the City Council for authority to hold a tag day.

"It is quite a task to feed 700 men," he said.

Mayor Andrew McGavin reiterated to the press the city's decision to ban soliciting, but it is expected the whole question will go to vote of the council. Two weeks ago the council, on a 5-5 vote, refused a tag day. Yesterday Chief of Police J. A. McLellan denied permission to set up tables on the street for soliciting.

Campbell said the jobless delegation would be accompanied by a number of prominent citizens.

At the City Hall it was stated the council as a whole might meet the delegation.

Other points to be taken up, besides "tin-canning," include the occupation by the men of four city-owned rooming houses, and a request that they have the use of the old Variety Theatre as a meeting hall.

Details of the exploit of Edna Herrin, 1898 Monteith Street, and her mother, Mrs. S. Herrin, in rescuing Eric Townsend from drowning in the Sooke River on Dominion Day will be forwarded to the Royal Humane Society at Hamilton, Ontario, the provincial secretary's department said today.

Affidavits of eyewitnesses will be secured and full information of the rescue given the society, which will then consider an award.

Franco's Troops Move Along Mediterranean Coast In New Gains

HENDAYE, France (at the Spanish frontier) (AP)—Insurgents swung down the Mediterranean coast toward Valencia today and occupied Burriana, important highway point 20 miles north of Sagunto. They also marched into Grao de Burriana, slightly to the east and directly on the coast.

Insurgents have been just outside Burriana since the capture of Villareal June 17.

Occupation of the town followed insurgent reports they had smashed government lines south of the Tereul-Mediterranean highway in the Sarrion sector.

Blast In Michel Mine Traps 14

Explosion Rips Through Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company Shaft

FERNIE, B.C. (CP) — Fourteen men were reported trapped after an explosion had ripped through the British Columbia mine at the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company at nearby Michel early this afternoon.

Details of the explosion were not available immediately. According to reports reaching this East Kootenay town the blast occurred at about 1.10 p.m.

The Michel field is one of the largest in the province, although the mines have not been working at full capacity for some time.

First reports did not say how many men were in the workings when the explosion occurred, nor was the cause of the blast known here.

W. BEGG DIES

NANAIMO (CP) — J. J. Begg of the Nanaimo Free Press staff today received word of the death of his brother, William Begg, 71, in London. Begg was a former resident here and served overseas during the Great War.

Storm Deaths In Japan Total 300

TOKIO (AP) — Domei, Japanese news agency, in belated reports Tuesday of damage during two days of storms and earthquakes last week, listed 120 persons dead and missing and 60,000 homes damaged at Kobe.

The total number of deaths from the storms was brought to more than 300.

NONINTERVENTION PLAN APPROVED

LONDON (CP)—The full Non-intervention Committee, with 26 European nations represented, tonight gave formal approval to the British-sponsored scheme to withdraw foreign troops from the Spanish civil war.

The committee then requested Great Britain to approach both Spanish factions immediately to obtain their approval for the scheme, which involves the dispatch of commissions to arrange for the aliens' evacuation. Already insurgents' acceptance has been predicted.

Adoption of the plan was hailed in official quarters as a great potential factor for European peace.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany paid to the committee £12,000 ($62,500) each to get the work started.

French-Japanese Tension Grows

Tokio Expected to Protest Indo-China Occupation of Paracel Islands

PARIS (AP) — New diplomatic tension between France and Japan appeared likely today to result from French occupation of strategic Paracel Islands in the South China Sea, about 150 miles southeast of the Chinese Island of Hainan, which Japan has been reported planning to seize.

Reports from Tokio said the Japanese Foreign Office was studying the situation with "great care." It was thought here that Japan might protest against occupation of the islands, which the Japanese contend belong to China.

The French Foreign Office said the occupation was a routine police matter of the French colony of Indo-China, which claims jurisdiction there.

It was said at the Foreign Office, however, that the Paracels would serve as "excellent sea plane bases" in war-time, and their occupation was seen here as a logical preparation for defence of Hainan, which dominates the Indo-China coast.

VISITED BY CHINESE

A group of French customs officials and policemen effected the occupation. The Paracels in the past have been without an apparent owner, although Chinese fishermen have sought turtles and birds' nests there for generations.

France has been uneasy over Japanese intentions toward Hainan, because that island commands the eastern approaches to Indo-China and is near the sea lanes between Great Britain's far eastern outposts, Hongkong and Singapore.

SERGEANT OF POLICE DIES OF WOUNDS

Robert Gibson Succumbs as Result of Attack by Intruder; B.C. Officers Investigate Shooting to Death Yesterday by Same Assailant of Acting Inspector W. J. Service and Death Soon Afterward of M. Gurvich in Exchange of Bullets When Police Overtake Him in Beer Parlor

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Sergt. Robert Gibson of the British Columbia police died early today in a hospital, raising to three the death toll of gun play here yesterday between a maddened taxi driver and police.

Sergt. Gibson was shot in the back of the head while trying to disarm a man who had already sent two bullets through the head and neck of his superior, Acting Inspector W. J. Service. Death came almost immediately to Service.

A few moments later, while Sergt. Gibson was being rushed to the hospital, Mike Gurvich, the taxi driver, was shot down in a beer parlor as he opened fire on a squad of provincial police who cornered him there.

INQUEST STARTED

An inquest on the death of Acting Inspector Service, opened last night, stands adjourned until later in the week.

Just before the taxi man made his last stand, he shouted at approaching police: "I've killed two of you already and I'll get anybody else that comes near me."

But the officers pressed on, and, as Gurvich fired at them from his post on a beer parlor table, he was killed by a bullet which pierced his forehead.

GATHER EVIDENCE

The remnants of the headquarters staff of the provincial police northern detachments here were busy today piecing together the story of the affray. They believe Gurvich became enraged when he was served a summons for trespassing on the Canadian National Railways wharf here.

They learned that he visited a lawyer and sought advice about the summons and that he procured a box of bullets from a hardware store about an hour before the shootings yesterday afternoon.

The 45-year-old acting inspector and his 50-year-old sergeant were conversing in their office when the taxi driver marched in and shot the two. Service was killed instantly and Gibson rendered unconscious by a bullet wound in his head.

Constable D. W. Taylor heard the shots and saw Gurvich running from the office, located in

Thousand Teachers Go to School Here

Annual Summer Course of Education Formally Opened at High School

Nearly 1,000 teachers from British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California started going to school in Victoria this morning.

The 25th annual Victoria Summer School of Education was formally opened by Hon. George M. Weir, Minister of Education, in the auditorium of Victoria High School.

Most of the teachers are quartered in boarding houses and private homes in the city. They will be here for five weeks.

A show of hands at the opening session this morning showed by far the greater proportion of the teachers present are from rural schools.

PUBLIC OPINION

Dr. Weir's address was given over chiefly to informing the teachers what the general public thought of them, as shown in a cross section of the letters received in his office.

The impression that teachers were theorists out of touch with the realities was becoming less common now, he said, and was disproved by the excellence of the curriculum which the teachers themselves had drafted to fit in with the practical life of British Columbia.

He scoffed at the common charge that teachers were Communists bent on disturbing the minds of the young with the comment "out of 2,000 students at the

Marketing Act Validity Argued

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, said today he has been advised that arguments on the validity of British Columbia's Natural Products Marketing Act were presented to the judicial committee of the Privy Council last week.

Dr. MacDonald said it was expected the Privy Council would make a ruling on the act within a month.

The litigation over the marketing act has been pending for months. On the outcome of the London ruling depends the next moves on controlled marketing.

Auto Traffic Hits New Seasonal High

8,203 Cars Carrying 20,839 Handled Here in Six-month Period

Large increase in the number of motor cars and passengers handled at Victoria and Sidney for the first six months of this year, compared with the same period of 1937, is noted in facts compiled by Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren from figures of the Department of Customs, released by Collector George A. Yardley.

This year, up to June 30, a total of 8,203 cars, carrying 20,839 passengers, was handled at Victoria and Sidney. For the same months last year there were 4,923 cars, with 12,586 passengers.

These figures, Mr. Warren said, represented an increase of 66 per cent in cars and 64 per cent in passengers.

Of this total 6,190 were foreign cars, carrying 15,602 passengers.

Four In Court After Speeches

TORONTO (CP) — Four men were scheduled today to appear in a Toronto magistrate's court charged with obstructing police as the only aftermath of one Fascist and three anti-Fascist gatherings on the same night in the central and downtown sections of the city.

Announcements of plans for a Fascist meeting in Massey Hall last night, sponsored by the National Unity League of Canada, prompted arrangements for anti-Fascist demonstrations in Maple Leaf Gardens, in Queen's Park and on a street corner just across from the Fascist meeting. Police heads posted cruiser cars, mounted officers and uniformed constables and plainclothesmen all through the district.

But the only disturbance occurred in connection with the street corner speech-making, where constables bustled four men off to headquarters when they refused to obey orders to "move on."

At the Massey Hall meeting, attended by 1,500, Adrien Arcand of Montreal, national leader of the National Unity Party, said: Fascism would enable Canada to reconquer its own territory from "the red clutches of Moscow and international Jewry" within three years.

Flanked by a dozen blue-shirted lieutenants on the platform, Arcand followed a bitter denunciation of the Jews with a plea for a corporate state to replace the present system of government in Canada.

EX-AMBASSADOR SPEAKS

At the Maple Leaf Gardens 12,000 persons heard a plea for economic co-operation among democracies, to combat domination by the dictator countries, voiced by William E. Dodd, former United States Ambassador to Germany.

About 400 anti-Fascists attended the open-air gathering in Queen's Park, sponsored by the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, whose regional council chairman, William Denison, was the principal speaker. Denison declared a former member of the Fascist Party, scheduled to speak, did not appear "because we fear for his life."

Alberta Bills Argued In London

Privy Council to Rule If Three Measures Are Valid

LONDON (CP) — The question of whether the Alberta bank bill went beyond the powers of the provincial Legislature to raise revenue for provincial purposes developed as the centre of interest today as the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, under the presidency of the Lord Chancellor, Baron Maugham, began hearing appeals of the province on three acts declared ultra vires by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Col. O. M. Biggar, K.C., counsel for the province, agreed that if it was a case of killing the goose which lays the golden egg, then the bill was not a taxing statute for the purpose of raising revenue for provincial purposes. But he argued the Supreme Court was not entitled to assume the banks would have been put out of business by the bill.

"Our contention," Mr. Biggar argued, "is that the bill is not prohibitive at all. It has been established that while the tax was heavy it would not have prevented the banks carrying on business. It would no doubt have much reduced their profits."

DIRECT TAXATION

The bill provides for an annual tax of one-half of 1 per cent on the banks' paid-up capital and a tax of 1 per cent on the reserve fund of undivided profits. Under section 92 of the British North America Act, the provincial Legislature has exclusive powers to impose direct taxation within the province in order to raise revenue for provincial purposes.

In addition to Lord Maugham, the bench was composed of Lord Atkin, Lord Thankerton, Lord Russell of Killowen and Lord Macmillan. After morning and afternoon sittings, Their Lordships adjourned until 10.30 a.m. Thursday.

Major C. H. Douglas, founder of the Social Credit movement, listened part of the time to the arguments in the small court room in Downing Street.

Besides the tax bill, Their Lordships were asked to set aside the Supreme Court judgments on (1) an act to amend and consolidate the credit of Alberta Regulation Act, and (2) an act to ensure publication of accurate news and information, commonly referred to as the press regulation bill.

DISALLOWANCE

Mr. Biggar submitted the judgment of the Supreme Court was wrong and that the bills were within the competence of the Alberta Legislature. He spoke of the powers of disallowance of provincial legislation conferred by the British North America Act on the Governor-General-in-Council.

"Did the Statute of Westminster make any difference at all?" questioned Lord Thankerton.

"None at all," Mr. Biggar replied.

The powers of disallowance, Mr. Biggar added, were valid subsisting powers. There was no limit on them except the limit of time. They must be exercised within one year. Mr. Biggar cited the order-in-council of the Dominion Government referring the question of the validity of the three Alberta bills to the Supreme Court of Canada.

FRENCH-JAPANESE TENSION GROWS

The British government disclosed June 27 that Britain and France had told Japan to keep off Hainan and had "agreed to joint action to deal with possible complications."

The French Foreign Office denied, however, that French war ships were concentrating off Indo-China as a preliminary precaution.

The Paracel Islands lie about 250 miles east of Tourane, a principal eastern port of French Indo-China.

It has been claimed in Paris the islands have been under control of the Annam administration (part of French Indo-China) since the beginning of the last century. Pilot lights, buoys and a meteorological station were installed by the Indo-China government to assure safe navigation.

FIVE KILLED IN PALESTINE

JERUSALEM (AP) — Five Jews were killed and five wounded today in scattered attacks by terrorists.

Three were killed and one wounded as they left Ainvered settlement for work in orange groves. A Jewish father and son were slain when ambushed near the temple area in the old city. Four others were wounded when an Arab band attacked Roshpina.

AUTO TRAFFIC HITS NEW SEASONAL HIGH

These figures compare with 3,384 foreign cars last year, carrying 7,775 passengers.

Mr. Warren said this was an increase of 83 per cent in cars and 78 per cent in passengers.

CANADIAN TRAVEL

Canadian cars handled showed a proportionate increase. This year there were 2,013 cars, carrying 5,237 passengers, compared with 1,539 cars, carrying 3,811 passengers for the same period of 1937, representing an increase of 30 per cent in cars and 37 per cent in passengers.

Already this year the customs department has handled 1,139 cars from California; 1,035 from Washington and 431 from Oregon. Forty-three states and the District of Columbia were represented, the only States missing being Delaware, Maine, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia.

Twenty cars came from New York State; ten from Pennsylvania, seven from New Jersey, four from Massachusetts, seven from the District of Columbia, nine from Florida, four from Tennessee, three from Georgia, three from Mississippi, three from South Carolina, two from Virginia and one from Louisiana. In addition there were 12 cars from the Hawaiian Islands, two from Mexico and one from England.

Last month the customs officers at Victoria and Sidney handled 3,606 American cars, compared with 1,642 in the same month of 1937.

The information office maintained by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau gave information to 5,644 visitors in the first six months of 1938, compared to 4,874 visitors in the first half of last year. This was an increase of 30 per cent. In May and June there was an increase of more than 50 per cent. Last month there were 1,780 callers at the bureau.

HAUGWITZ DEMANDED COUNTESS PAY HIM SUM OF $5,000,000

"seriously disturbed" because of "another gentleman" and wanted to know if the countess would marry him if she got a divorce.

TO SEIZE SON

At the outset, outlining the case, Sir Patrick Hastings declared that Count Haugwitz had "said he was coming to England to seize his son, who was his absolute property," Sir Patrick charged.

He said "no one in the world would stop him," Sir Patrick continued, "and if his wife stood in the way 'God help her; God help us both'."

Counsel said the count had boasted of prowess with a revolver.

The asserted threats, the attorney declared, resulted from discussions for a separation, begun between the count and countess on June 2.

FANTASTIC SUM

Describing a conversation he had with Count Haugwitz-Reventlow in France, Mr. Mitchell, one of the countess' solicitors, declared the count told him "my terms are the child and a fantastic sum."

"He used obscene terms," Mitchell said, "about his wife, and mentioned the name of one particular gentleman in London society."

Describing the count as a man of "violent and ungovernable temper," Sir Patrick Hastings said he threatened to shoot others and himself at one moment and at the next "was in tears, and sometimes making large financial claims as a condition of leaving his wife."

The count, Sir Patrick continued, went to France to seek a nerve treatment. He asked Mitchell to come to see him there. In Paris, Mitchell told him "separation was inevitable and that his wife was terrified of him."

"The only ground on which the countess wanted a divorce was incompatibility," Mitchell said in reply to questions from Sir Patrick. "There was no one else concerned at all.

"The count said £50,000 was laughable. He said it was an insult. I told him, 'I wish someone would insult me'."

THOUSAND TEACHERS GO TO SCHOOL HERE

University of British Columbia only 11 registered themselves as Communists, and I doubt if they were very clear what that meant."

Another common complaint was that teachers were overpaid. Actually school salaries had nowhere near kept up with the advance in professional standards of qualification demanded in the province.

COST OF EDUCATION

To the charge that education was too costly, Dr. Weir answered simply that the annual vote last year was $600,000 less than seven years ago, when the population was about 150,000 smaller.

The new curriculum was still criticised in some quarters, he said, but on the whole it was steadily gaining in favor. He thought it could still be improved, especially from the point of view of the rural schools, and he asked the teachers for their suggestions.

In this connection he said the department of education was considering publishing a bimonthly bulletin to discuss curriculum problems, especially those of rural areas.

The use of the radio and developments in visual education and vocational guidance were receiving increased appreciation from the public, Dr. Weir said.

Harold L. Campbell, principal of the summer school, presided at the opening ceremony and introduced the men and women making up the staff. Dr. A. S. Imrie gave the invocation.

Dr. J. S. Willis, Superintendent of Education, had a place of honor on the platform.

BIG REGISTRATION

Registrations at present total about 900, and the final figure is expected to be about the same as that of 1,020 which set a record last year.

Three outstanding United States educationists have come to Victoria to conduct classes at the school. They are Dr. D. H. Kulp of Columbia University, New York, and Drs. R. G. Watt and E. W. Tiegs of the University of Southern California.

About one-third of the enrolment is made up of young teachers who have not yet made up the necessary units of credit to secure permanent certificates after their normal school training.

For this reason the biggest enrolment is in the course on the principles and technique of teaching, a required course for normal students who are extending their training.

There is a large registration also in the course on growth and development of children, particularly in the section dealing with hygiene and behavior, and also in the course on educational psychology.

It is estimated that between 50 and 60 per cent of all the teachers in British Columbia are attending summer schools in the province, in other parts of Canada or at universities in the United States this year.

Japanese Gain Along Yangtze

SHANGHAI (AP)—The Japanese army, which in a year's fighting has crashed its way 490 miles up the Yangtze River into the heart of China, established positions Tuesday for another major effort to reach Hankow, provisional capital of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government.

The Japanese command announced the capture of Hukow, 160 miles from the China capital and a principal barrier to the Japanese advance. Chinese withdrew, leaving munitions supplies, and there was little fighting after Japanese had pierced Hukow's outer defences, military officials said.

Occupation of the city put the Japanese in position for a Hankow offensive along two possible routes, both extremely difficult.

The one choice was a 150-mile drive up the Yangtze River, winding through a mountainous area with its strong Chinese defences. The other was a land and water detour to the west, in an effort to sever the Canton-Hankow railroad, disrupt transportation of supplies and force the evacuation of Hankow.

Foreign military observers thought the roundabout route would be the choice, with the Japanese avoiding a frontal assault on Hankow.

It was assumed the Japanese would continue their operations up the Yangtze toward Hankow, to protect their flank and force a division of Chinese defences.

Delegates Live In Trailers

Community on Wheels Seen at National Conservative Convention in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Many of the delegates to the National Conservative Convention guarded the problem of finding lodging in the crowded capital by bringing their own with them. A large community of trailers has sprung up in the Ottawa Exhibition grounds campsite close by the Coliseum, where the convention sessions are being held. There are several tents as well.

In an effort to reduce the noise made by delegates moving around during the speeches, the floor of the Coliseum has been covered with felt and canvas.

RESTAURANTS BUSY

Special restaurant facilities at the Exhibition Grounds are providing 3,800 meals daily for those who can take time off from politics to eat.

Hon. George Black, former Speaker of the House of Commons, and husband of Mrs. Black, M.P. for the Yukon, arrived in the capital after flying from Dawson City to Edmonton and then coming east by train.

THIRD DEATH IN PRINCE RUPERT SHOOTING

the Prince Rupert courthouse building. By telephone he warned the uptown police office to watch for the man.

CAR NOT STOPPED

Corporal Harold Raybone and Constables G. H. Clarke and Terry Stewart then stationed themselves on the road near Gurvich's taxi office and attempted unsuccessfully to stop him as he drove by.

They followed him to the office and found the driver in the middle of the road with a gun in his hand. Gurvich fired one shot at Constable Raybone, then retreated into the beer parlor, when the corporal returned the fire. Shortly after that he was brought down by a bullet from Constable Clarke's gun.

Acting Inspector Service, had been a member of the B.C. police force for 25 years, a period of service only broken when he fought overseas during the Great War. His service extended through British Columbia from Kamloops to Fort George. He was transferred here only last month to take over the command of the force's northern detachments.

Sergeant Gibson had been attached to the Prince Rupert division of the force since he first joined it in 1918 on his return from the Great War.

Staff Sergeant William J. Service was one of the most popular noncommissioned officers of the B.C. Police force, with which he had been associated since 1912. He was the department's senior staff sergeant and at the time of his death was acting inspector at Prince Rupert.

Two years after joining the force he went overseas, later redonning the khaki uniform when he returned from the Great War in 1918.

He was a visitor to Victoria last week immediately following the announcement of his transfer from Kamloops to Prince Rupert. While here he had a reunion with his brother, Samuel Service, stationed with the Provincial Police at Chemainus, and a cousin, Sam Strange, of this city, formerly a city police officer.

Staff Sergeant Service figured in the investigations of many important cases in the annals of the B.C. Police, including the famous George brothers murder case at Merritt. He also took part in the Anvox strike in 1930.

He is survived by the widow and five children, including two daughters in Vancouver, who have left for Prince Rupert.

SERVED IN NORTH

Sergeant Robert Gibson was another war veteran included in the force's enlistment roll. He joined in 1918 and for the most part served in northern districts, including Naas River, Port Essington and Prince Rupert. He is survived by the widow and a daughter.

Constable G. H. Clarke is a former Vancouver man who has been stationed at Victoria, Alert Bay, Blue River and Sechelt. He was transferred two months ago to Prince Rupert.

CO-OPERATION FOR DEFENCE IS URGED

shared by Liberals as well and any responsible Liberal would admit Canada must depend on the Empire for safety.

"The independent, separate defence of Canada is an idle dream," declared the former Prime Minister.

PACIFIC AND ATLANTIC

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, had told Parliament Canada's only defence against hostile attack on the Atlantic was the British fleet, and on the Pacific reliance had to be placed on friendly fleets, presumably that of the United States.

Was it not infinitely better, however, to co-operate with a strong British Empire than wait until perhaps the Empire had fallen and then seek to co-operate with the United States? asked Senator Meighen. The British Empire was the first line of defence of the United States as well as of Canada.

New international alignments were taking place in the world. The spirit which glorified might and even the horrors and devastations of war was again rising in certain countries. Against it Great Britain, in collaboration with France, was exercising patience and restraint.

The former Prime Minister devoted his speech to Empire defence co-operation. His was one of two major utterances on the first day of the national convention which will select a new leader for the party. He was the last speaker at the morning session.

WHITE SPEAKS

The other keynote speaker was Sir Thomas White, war-time Minister of Finance, who dealt with national policies, of a general character, but on the defence question expressed views similar to Mr. Meighen's that membership in the Empire carried with it responsibilities as well as privileges.

"The overseas Dominions," he said, "cannot either in justice or in honor suffer the whole burden of defence of the Empire, including themselves, to fall on Britain.

"A prepared British Empire is the surest safeguard against world war and even apparent reluctance on the part of any of its membership to co-operate in the work of preparation will only serve to encourage aggressor nations and still further jeopardize the great cause of world peace."

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett called the convention to order shortly after 11 o'clock. Election of temporary chairmen and addresses of welcome followed before the speeches of the two veteran statesmen.

CHEERS FOR BENNETT

Mr. Bennett received a big ovation as he rose to speak. Delegates broke into cheers for nearly a minute after he had spoken—"Ladies and gentlemen"—and he was forced to halt while his followers rose to their feet and continued their cheers for the chieftain who had led the party 11 years.

Mr. Bennett said that on account of his physical condition he had wished to retire in 1937, but it had been impracticable to hold a convention in that year and he had reluctantly agreed to continue as party leader for another year.

After making a formal announcement that the convention had been properly called, the leader led the convention in the Lord's Prayer, after which Senator Charles Bourgeois of Three Rivers, Que., repeated the prayer in French, with French-Canadian delegates.

Photographers' lights flashed from all sides of the platform as Mr. Bennett opened his remarks.

TEMPORARY CHAIRMEN

The convention named as temporary chairmen, H. P. Hill of Ottawa and Edouard Masson, Montreal. Miss Dona Aitken, Montreal, and Frederick Dorion, Quebec, were elected temporary joint secretaries.

Mr. Hill briefly reviewed the history of the Conservative Party from the days of Sir John A. Macdonald down to the present, declaring Mr. Bennett was the peer of all other Conservative leaders. He had sacrificed himself to the interests of country, he said.

Mr. Masson followed with a brief speech in French and said the policies of the Conservative Party had always been characterized by realism and a progressive outlook on national affairs.

Mayor Stanley Lewis, a Liberal, extended a welcome to the city and said he now knew "how Daniel felt in the lions' den." He handed Mr. Bennett a key, symbolical of the freedom of the city.

Hon. Raymond Morand of Windsor, a former Conservative minister and member for East Essex in the last Parliament, greeted the delegates on behalf of Ontario, the province chosen for the convention. Dr. Morand spoke in French.

Mrs. George Cockshutt of Brantford gave a similar welcome on the part of the women of Ontario to the women from other parts of the Dominion who were delegates to the convention.

F. W. Turnbull, member of Parliament for Regina during the Bennett regime of 1930-1935, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Fred Burden of Vancouver spoke for the women delegates in appreciation of the welcome extended on behalf of the women of Ontario and Ottawa, and Mrs. F. X. A. Gerouz of Quebec made a similar acknowledgment in French.

Hon. R. B. Hanson, former M.P. for York-Sunbury, N.B., and Minister of Trade and Commerce for a brief time in the Bennett government, said that never was there such disunity as today. "Let it be the duty of Conservatives to preach and practice harmony in Canada," he urged.

Sir Thomas White, delivering the first keynote address, urged Conservatives to pledge unsparing fidelity to the ideal of Canada as a united, self-governing nation within the British Empire.

When Senator Meighen rose to speak, temporary chairman Hill called for three cheers, which were given by the standing audience.

He had requested yesterday, Mr. Meighen said, and had undertaken with the approval of Mr. Bennett, to review a subject "which towers above all else in its consequence on Canada today" He referred to external affairs and national defence.

He would not discuss constitutional rights beyond declaring he would "be the last to consent to the surrender of any of those attributes of nationhood which over the years we have reached." He deplored the inclination of some to fight over again "those battles of autonomy which were won decades ago."

In the midst of the troubled world situation it was encouraging to find Britain standing by the side of France, striving for peace which was admirable. The government of Britain was constantly goaded by the Labor and by the Liberal parties to put in effect retaliations which would plunge the world into war.

The most vital thing for Canadians was the security and peace of Canada.

Conservatives were not the only persons who believed Canada must and could rely for her defence on the Motherland. Any responsible leader in the Liberal Party would admit it.

FEEDING MEN IS DIFFICULT TASK

The men were granted the use of the four old hotels for 10 days. This period expires on Thursday.

Registration of the men at the government's special employment service office proceeded very slowly again today.

Eleven men registered this morning, bringing to 47, out of the 500, the number now listed with the office. Of these, officials said, 32 claimed B.C. residence and the other 15 were transients. Three of the transients have accepted transportation back to their homes.

LOCAL MEN GET JOBS

Employment service officials announced today that three farm jobs offered Saturday to the single unemployed were filled yesterday afternoon with Victoria men. Only three of the visiting jobless registered for the work and they were all transients. The employment service turned them down, however, saying they would give preference to B.C. men.

NANAIMO (CP)—Single unemployed from Vancouver today were ready to start their 80-mile trek down the east coast of Vancouver Island to Victoria in a demonstration for a relief works program.

Joined by an additional 15 jobless from the mainland Monday, 200 men will travel by car and truck to the provincial capital. The vehicles have been provided by sympathizers.

According to Steve Brodie of the Relief Project Workers' Union, another contingent may arrive here from Vancouver tonight to join the group en route to Victoria and the 700 already there.

Brodie said he would go with the men today, but would return to address a meeting here Wednesday.

JAIL TERMS IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jail terms were meted out to 14 of 19 unemployed taggers who were dealt with in police court yesterday, five were sentenced to the time spent in jail or given their liberty on their own recognizance.

Ten of the men, picked up by police Saturday when they solicited funds on downtown streets in defiance of civic authorities, were sentenced to 10 days. Four others were given sentences of one month each.

Part of the estimated $1,000 collected was used to send 200 jobless to Nanaimo, en route to Victoria, where they will join 530 of their fellows demanding a works program.

Charge Follows Fire at Cannery

VANCOUVER (CP) Henry J. Stump, manager of the Leroy Bay cannery at Smith's Inlet, B.C., who was arrested last night on a conspiracy charge, today appeared in police court and was remanded until July 12.

The charge was laid in connection with a $70,000 fire which destroyed the cannery last September. Stump was arrested on a warrant shortly after he had appeared in the B.C. Supreme Court to testify in his suit against four insurance companies for claims in connection with the fire.

He was released on $10,000 bail.

MACCHIONE TO APPEAL AGAIN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vincent Macchione, 36-year-old Sicilian thrice convicted of murder, today dispatched notice of appeal to Victoria from his cell in the Oakalla jail. He has been sentenced to be hanged October 26.

Macchione is appealing to the British Columbia Court of Appeal, which will meet in Victoria September 13, from his last conviction at Vernon Assizes last month.

The charge was laid after the shotgun slaying of Michael Hudock near Fernie, B.C., in 1936.

Rain In Large Prairie Areas

REGINA (CP)—Good showers and some extremely heavy rains fell during the last few days and moisture conditions, particularly in the better crop areas, have been materially improved, according to reports received by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture.

Precipitation was heavy at points in southeastern, Regina-Weyburn, the eastern portion of south central, east central, central and west central Saskatchewan.

There was also lighter precipitation in the western portion of the south central and the southwestern districts.

Crop prospects are for the most part good in southern and central districts. In northern areas prospects are extremely poor to only fair.

A wide range of conditions exists.

ALBERTA HAS RAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Reports that heavy rains of the last few days in northern Alberta extended into the Peace River area, where moisture had been needed urgently improved prospects for a generally favorable crop in western Canada. Showers were scattered yesterday, but touched many districts, particularly in southern Alberta.

Edmonton recorded 1.05 inches precipitation from Saturday till Monday. A half hour's heavy rain fell yesterday at Calgary with showers and storms scattered from Red Deer south to the United States border.

ASK FREEDOM FOR WAR PRISONERS

TORONTO (CP) — Request for intervention by Prime Minister King on behalf of six Canadians captured by the Spanish insurgents last March is contained in a letter sent Ottawa by the Friends of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion.

The six men named by officials of the organization are: Frank Blackman, Percy Jones and Isaac Matson of Vancouver, John Croll, Regina, and Walter Sidney and Paul Burns of unknown addresses.

LOAN SCHEME CONSIDERED

Nanaimo Looks Into Federal Plan For Pipe Line Project Completion

NANAIMO—Details of the federal government's 2 per cent construction loan scheme will be sought by a Nanaimo city council delegation from provincial ministers to determine the advisability of applying for $200,000 for completion of the city's pipe line and for the relief of unemployment.

The council decided to follow that course at a special meeting last night. To secure the information, Mayor V. B. Harrison, City Engineer A. G. Graham and Aldermen J. G. Hindmarch, Samuel Drake and J. Kerr will seek an interview with Hon. A. Wells Grey, Minister of Municipalities, and Hon. George A. Pearson, Minister of Labor, on the matter.

Differences of opinion were expressed during debate on the proposed loan last night.

Acquisition of the loan would scrap the existing plan whereby water rates were increased to raise funds for the project, it was pointed out. It would, Mayor Harrison thought, avoid any increase in the mill rate. He also noted the present scheme had fallen short of its yearly objective during 1937.

Alderman Drake felt the money should not be borrowed just because it was easy to get. As far as unemployment was concerned, he and Alderman Kerr felt that matter should be taken over by the federal government. The latter remarked that application of the loan scheme would relieve the superior governments of the necessity of paying their share for unemployed.

Alderman Grieve also voiced concern over the unemployment angle involved.

The plan would, it was conceded, place more money in the hands of those who had been living on very slim relief allowances.

Vancouver Asks For Federal Loan

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city council plans to apply for a $2,000,000 loan from the federal government to finance several self-liquidating civic projects.

The council will ask for the money under the new $30,000,000 federal low interest municipal loan fund. It will be in addition to the city's recent application for a $1,140,000 loan for schools and water works.

NO BLAME ATTACHED

PONOKA, Alta. (CP)—C. W. Carleton, manager of the chicken ranch at the Alberta Mental Hospital here, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday of any blame in connection with fatal shooting of a male patient early Sunday. The patient had escaped from the hospital a few days ago.

NO IMMIGRATION PLANS ARE MADE

LONDON (CP) — Sir John Simon, deputy leader of the House of Commons, told Sir Henry Page-Croft, Conservative, today that it was "impossible to hold out hope" for a special opportunity to discuss the member's motion asking the House to declare the time has arrived for early resumption of the movement of population within the Empire.

Sir Henry's motion also would urge the Dominion governments to consider the possibilities of preparing for settlement and to indicate their readiness to grant facilities for approved schemes.

TRAIN KILLS DUNCAN MAN

Daniel Gabouri Hit at Crossing Near Koksilah

DUNCAN—Daniel Gabouri of Duncan, a married man aged 58 years, was instantly killed yesterday morning when he was run over by a southbound E. & N. freight train about 150 yards north of the Koksilah railway crossing.

The police were notified and Constables Lashmar and Haines assisted in removing the mangled body from beneath the second boxcar.

Gabouri, in his young days, was a great athlete, and was well known all over the island as a baseball pitcher of remarkable ability. Two sons, Herbert and Clifford, survive him. Dr. H. P. Swan, coroner, will conduct an inquest.

MAN SAFE AFTER RIVER DISASTER

CERRO, N.M. (AP) — A. S. Hunt, 58, of Denver, was found safe yesterday at a sheep camp to which he had walked with bare feet after his companion in a boat expedition down the turbulent Rio Grande River was drowned when their boat capsized.

Brought to Antonio, Colo., from the camp, Hunt insisted on starting back at once to the point where the boat was wrecked on a rock in the Rio Grande's steep-walled Black Canyon. Hunt said he wanted to salvage his equipment and supplies. He suffered from nervous exhaustion.

A party including Frank Johnson and Paul Strawn of Antonio, the men who found Hunt, accompanied him.

SUMMER STUDIES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Summer school started at the University of British Columbia yesterday with more than 700 students registered. Many are teachers. The school is under the direction of Professor Lemuel Robertson.

Fighting Fire — Under River

Fire raging in New York's uncompleted $58,000,000 Midtown Tunnel, 90 feet below the East River, drove out firemen and was only extinguished after 12 hours of fighting when the bore was flooded. Firemen, wearing two masks each, are pictured at right above, emerging from the shaft after unsuccessful efforts to hose down the flames. Before entering they were tested in compression chambers, as are tunnel-digging "sandhogs," for ability to stand the tremendous atmospheric pressure. As shown at left, the highly-compressed air in the tunnel, displaced by falling rock and clay, forced its way 90 feet upward and shot a geyser 15 feet above the river's surface.

Three Saved And One Is Missing

HOQUIAM, Wash. (AP)—The efforts of two sea-going horsemen saved the lives of three swimmers in the Pacific Ocean surf at Copalis Beach yesterday, while a fourth swimmer apparently drowned.

Searchers continued today to look for the body of 17-year-old Edgar Evans, who probably lost his life attempting to rescue a distressed swimmer, James P. King of Everett, Wash.

Evans, Gordon Taylor, 18, and Dick Jones, 19, both of Seattle, swam to King's aid when the latter was caught in an undertow 400 feet outside the surf. Taylor and Jones reached King and held his head above water.

Then a 50-year-old former cowboy, Harry Larson, and Chet Garbo, 24, leaped astride two horses and plunged into the surf, lariats swinging in readiness.

They threw their lifelines to King, Taylor and Jones and dragged them ashore. Meanwhile Evans vanished in the surf while his parents and sister watched from shore.

CANADA'S NET PLAYERS LOSE

Davis Cup Members Are Eliminated From Nassau Invitation Tennis

GLEN COVE, N.Y.—Canada's Davis Cup players, training for their clash with Japan, found United States players too well conditioned Saturday and were shut out of the Nassau County Club invitation tennis tournament as it was narrowed to the quarter-finals.

Robert Murray of Montreal, the Dominion's No. 1 player, went as far as the quarter-finals when he beat Cedric Major, 6-3, 6-2, in the second round. But he was eliminated there by Frank Bowden, New York, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1.

Laird Watt, Montreal, was turned back by Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Cal., in the second round, 6-3, 6-2. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N.J., eliminated Douglas Cameron, Vancouver southpaw, in the quarter-final, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2. The fourth Canadian, Ross Wilson of Toronto, was eliminated Friday by Gilbert Hunt, Washington, defender in the tournament.

Blasphemy Bill In British Commons

LONDON (CP) — Archibald Ramsay, Conservative, yesterday reintroduced his Alien Restriction (Blasphemy) Bill in the House of Commons. The measure, which had been given first reading, was withdrawn June 30 for technical reasons.

The bill would prevent participation by aliens in assemblies propagating blasphemous and atheistic doctrines or in other activities calculated to interfere with Great Britain's established religious institutions.

Doihara Again Is in Japan

TOKIO (AP)—The return of Lieut.-General Kenji Doihara from China was reported Monday by Domei (Japanese news agency) in a dispatch from Moji. Gen. Doihara, called the "Lawrence of Manchuria" because of his activities which led to the estaablishment of the state of Manchukuo, was trapped with his division on the central China front in May, but finally broke the ring around him early in June.

Youngest Delegate W. Herridge Jr., Six

OTTAWA (CP)—William Herridge Jr., six-year-old son of the former Canadian Minister to the United States, is the youngest delegate to the Conservative National Convention opened here today.

The convention committee yesterday named the boy, a nephew of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, a delegate-at-large. He has full voting rights, but whether he will attend and use them is not known.

The committee also decided the convention will make some "suitable recognition" of the contribution to the Conservative Party of Mrs. W. D. Herridge, the boy's mother, who died May 12. A sub-committee was appointed to decide on its form.

Radio License Check-up Urged

SASKATOON (CP) — Charges that the radio department of the federal government was losing money consistently because of failure of persons to buy radio licenses and that not more than one-third of the radios in Saskatchewan were licensed, were heard at the convention of the Canadian Postmasters' Association, Saskatchewan branch yesterday.

The resolutions committee was instructed to bring in a motion directed to the government which would urge a more efficient means of insisting on payment of the fee.

Turkey Shares In New Agreements

LONDON (CP)—The House of Commons gave second reading last night to a bill granting extensive credits to Turkey, a measure which some observers say will do much to make Turkey an ally, or at least neutral in any future war.

The bill would grant Turkey £16,000,000 ($80,000,000) credits, of which £6,000,000 ($30,000,000) is to be used for purchase of armaments. The bill must receive third reading in the lower House and also must pass the House of Lords before it goes into effect.

The government denied assertions of the opposition that the loan was part of a plan "to encircle Germany," but nearly every speaker emphasized the strategic importance of Turkey—Britain's enemy in the Great War—in the event of a new major conflict.

FRIENDSHIP PACT

ANKARA (CP-Havas) — A Franco-Turkish pact of friendship was initiated here last night by Tewfik Rushdu Aras, Turkish foreign minister, and French Ambassador Henri Ponsot.

The document will be formally signed in September when Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister, visits this Turkish capital. The agreement followed a series of conversations concerning Turkish rights in the sanjak of Alexandretta and the maintenance of the status quo in the eastern Mediterranean.

Yesterday at Antioche, Syria, a new French-Turkish military treaty for temporary joint control of the state of Alexandretta was signed by military representatives of the two nations.

A dispatch from Paris said the Foreign Office had announced France and Turkey had agreed that each would boycott any aggressor nation attacking the other. This agreement was contained in the friendship treaty the two nations signed.

They Sell Real Estate--Half a City!

"World's greatest real estate salesman" is the unofficial title pinned upon Lord Robert Crichton-Stuart, pictured above with Lady Stuart as they arrived in New York. He recently sold for a reputed $100,000,000, about half of the city of Cardiff, Wales, on behalf of his father, Lord Bute. Cardiff, grown from a Roman campsite to a city of 223,000, has been owned by the family of the Marquess of Bute for generations.

Britain Is Ready For Naval Talks

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Great Britain would be ready to discuss battleship tonnage with Japan at any time the Tokio government should show any desire to do so, Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons yesterday.

His statement arose from a question put by Lieut.-Commander Reginald Fletcher, Labor, who asked whether Great Britain intended to open discussions with the Japanese to prevent construction of 45,000-ton battleships.

"In view of the unwillingness of the Japanese government heretofore or during the escalation discussions to furnish any information or assurances as regard naval construction intentions, I fear nothing would be achieved at present at this stage by initiating discussions," Mr. Butler stated.

He added that "His Majesty's government are always ready to discuss the question with the Japanese government."

Newfoundland Budget Given

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (CP)—A deficit of $3,949,000 is estimated for the current fiscal year, according to Newfoundland's finance commissioner, J. H. Penson. Expenditures, estimated at $15,352,000, will be the largest in the colony's history. Revenue for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, is set at $11,403,000. The deficit will be covered by grants-in-aid from the British government.

In the budget speech, delivered last night, Mr. Penson announced the deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1938, was $1,317,855. Revenue collected last year was $12,279,456, the biggest yet recorded in Newfoundland. An increase in actual revenue of $2,000,000 more than the estimated amount cut the estimated deficit by more than half. Expenditures were figured down almost exactly, the estimate being only $37 higher than the actual amount, which was announced as $13,593,311.

The finance commissioner of the country ruled by a commission form of government since 1934 expressed his confidence in the economic buoyancy of Newfoundland and the value of its resources.

There would be no increased taxation, the commissioner said in his message to the country which voluntarily relinquished responsible government four years ago.

BISLEY RIFLE MEET STARTS

Canadian Marksmen Score Fine Victory in Unofficial Team Shoot

BISLEY CAMP, Eng. (CP)—The Empire meeting of the National Rifle Association, bringing crack military marksmen here from Canada and from all parts of the Empire, opened yesterday in cloudy weather. Intensive competition does not start for several days, windup with the final of the classic King's Prize on July 16, closing day of the 75th annual meeting.

Four domestic marksmen finished in a tie for leadership in the B.S.A. match, opening event of the meeting today, calling for seven shots at the 600-yard range. Leaders were Corporal A. Wilkey of the Devonshires, Aircraftsman P. Matcham, Chief Petty Officer G. Roberts of H.M.S. Pembroke and Warrant Officer A. Worden of the R.A.F. Each had 33 out of possible 35.

Best Canadians in the match with scores of 29 were Lieut. G. A. Molecey and Lieut. N. Colville of Vancouver, Capt. T. E. Hayhurst of Windsor, Ont., and T. W. Gregory of Ottawa.

Trailing were Sgt. N. L. M. Beckett, Hamilton, 28; Lieut. William Ewing, Montreal, 26; Lieut. Steve Johnson, Calgary, 25; C.Q.M.S. H. C. Hawes, Hamilton, 24, and Sgt. P. M. Gibault, Vancouver, 22.

The only other event today was the Queen Mary's Prize, a service condition shoot demanding deliberate fire, firing with movement, rapid fire and snapshooting at ranges from 600 down to 300 yards, later this afternoon.

CANADIANS WIN

Before the official opening the Canadian team scored a great win in their annual competition with the North London Rifle Club and the team from Southern Rhodesia. The Canadians totaled 1,481 points to win by a margin of 35. The London and Rhodesian teams tied with a 1,446.

In the unofficial team shoot the Canadians were paced by the 22-year-old Gregory, who had a score of 102. The veteran C.S.M. George Emslie of Toronto, scored 101, as did Lieut. Johnson and Lieut. C. F. Kennedy of Hilden, N.S.

Important in the manufacture of high explosives during the World War, picric acid now is being used to combat two serious diseases—infantile paralysis and sleeping sickness.

Appeals for Co-operation

RT. HON. ANTHONY EDEN, BRITAIN'S able Foreign Secretary for more than two years, spoke at the annual Fourth of July dinner of the American Society in London last night and pleaded for closer co-operation between his country and the United States. He explained that the government from which he resigned last February was "grasping at temporary expedients" and, by implication, left the impression that such a course not only was ineffective but fraught with a serious element of danger.

The co-operation which Mr. Eden considers advisable and obviously helpful to the cause of world peace did not mean "identical policies" or "identical outlook." What he conveyed to his Anglo-American audience, however, was the belief that "these two great peoples should be working for the same objective," so that the attitude of both of them toward world problems could be influenced to a large extent "by the ideals and traditions which they share in common."

The former Foreign Secretary was careful to make plain that his appeal for closer Anglo-American friendship did not mean "the United States should be asked or expected to pull British chestnuts out of the fire — although there are beginning to be quite a few chestnuts that concern us both." Rather did he emphasize particularly the fact that "statesmen of the United States have rendered invaluable service by their leadership and by their public declarations in recent years." Which encouraged him to finish on this note:

"Believing as we both do in constitutional government, in freedom of the individual, and in racial and religious tolerance, it is inevitable that our aim in world politics should be the establishment of international order, in which nations large and small can freely co-operate in commerce and in politics for the enrichment of international life."

It is not much use repeating the melancholy fact that if the United States had joined the League of Nations at its inception, the state of the world would have been vastly different from what it is today. What is done cannot be undone. But it is to the point to say that if the neighboring republic could be induced to co-operate in practical form with the British Empire in some new plan to promote peace — and there are numerous ways, moral, financial and economic, in which it could be undertaken—success would be certain.

Admittedly, the United States government and people have noted sufficient duplicity on the part of some continental European and other nations in the last few years to frighten them away even from the genuine appeal which Mr. Eden made last night. Yet the fact remains that there still is a very great deal to be gained from the kind of co-operation which every right-thinking individual has in mind.

Time to Stop Yodeling

NOW THAT HITLER AND MUSSOLINI have taken solemn vows to respect Switzerland's neutrality, it would seem that the time has come for the Swiss to start worrying.

Need we recall Mussolini's solemn vow to protect Austria? Or Hitler's solemn vow to Mussolini to leave Austria alone? Or the vows of eternal friendship passed between Mussolini and Haile Selassie only a few years before Il Duce sent his legions into Ethiopia? Or the nonintervention-in-Spain vows of the same two gentlemen, and Mussolini's promises to Mr. Chamberlain?

If, as has been said before, rattlesnakes had press agents, they would call their warning rattles vows of peace and friendship.

Bank Clearings Up

CANADIAN BANK CLEARINGS FOR last month tell a tale which should bring good cheer to business in this country. June recorded the first gain, over the corresponding period of last year, for several months. The turnover is given as $334,370,235 or $53,000,000 more than the 1937 period—and, what is more encouraging still, about $25,000,000 increase for the concluding week's business. Montreal and Toronto led the advance, and Victoria, Vancouver, Hamilton, London, Sudbury, Kingston and St. John were the other principal contributing factors in the aggregate gain. Winnipeg, Regina and Edmonton were down—but there will be different news from these centres later on.

During the last 20 years in Canada one of the most reliable signs of the general state of business throughout the country has been the monthly clearings of the chartered banks. This is not to say, of course, that the statistics they disclose are infallible. Nevertheless, the gradual rise in the summer of 1925—following recovery from the immediate post-war years of spurious prosperity—did not stop until the stock market crash in 1929. There was no return of the encouraging swing of the bank clearings pendulum in Canada until about three years ago, and then it was destined to be a more or less short-lived revival. Last year's slump in the United States began to have its effect on this country's general business toward the end of 1937. If, however, the June turnover by the banks of Canada means anything at all, it means that the setback, noticeable particularly during the spring months, has passed into history—that from now on it would appear reasonable to expect a more stable form of economic expansion. As far as the Dominion's week-end record tourist business from the United States is concerned, there is proof of new optimism among our neighbors.

Master or Servant?

THE "LABOR DECREE" PROMULGATED by the German government illustrates the difference between a free society, as we in this country visualize it, and a society in which freedom is subordinated to some other end.

This decree states that its aim is "to insure a supply of workers for any tasks politically important to the state." It renders every German citizen liable to conscription for any job the government may care to give him. A citizen so conscripted is guaranteed against any loss of wages, and his old job must be held open for him. Nevertheless, the fact of conscription remains and the citizen may at any time be moved about as the government sees fit.

The issue such a law raises is this: Does the state exist for the individual, or the individual for the state? The way in which any society tries to answer that question lays bare that society's whole philosophy of life. A dictatorship based on anything higher than a quest for personal power must justify its existence on the argument that it serves the mass of the people better than the mass could serve itself. Yet this argument immediately leads into deep water. For a dictatorship not only assumes to act for the masses; it also assumes the right to say what actions are to be taken and what goal is to be sought. It comes to elevate that abstraction, the state—in other words, itself—into an end in itself. A whole becomes greater than the sum of its parts.

All this is a challenge to our conception of the place of government. But contrasting the two gives us a clear picture of the difference between a free society and a dictatorship. In a free society, the state exists for the individual; in a dictatorship, the individual exists for the state. In the one, the ordinary human being's chance for happiness is the dominant consideration; in the other, it is of no consideration at all. We can do our democracy no greater service than by getting the distinction between the two kinds of society clear in our minds.

Dangerous Lads

THERE ARE STILL TOO MANY MOTORists in Victoria who rush up to the traffic lines as if they had only another minute to live. The fact that the signals are against them, that pedestrians are crossing the street because the green light has given them permission to do so, makes no difference at all. They simply must get on to that mark and figuratively toe it so that not a second shall be lost in the get-away. It is taken for granted that their brakes are in perfect order, that there is not the slightest likelihood of their machine bumping into somebody. And if the pedestrian is so stupid as to hesitate and wonder whether the motorist really has everything under control, he usually gets a cynical glare from the man behind the wheel.

Perhaps if one or two of our obliging and competent young officers of the law could be given a little time off during the day from that fussy business of making dots and crosses—or whatever they are—on the tires of parked cars, and instructed to look out for the few smart lads who seem to think it quite the thing to dash up to the traffic lines at a rate of speed considerably more than that permitted by the regulations, they might soon be able to earn the lasting gratitude of, at least, those pedestrians who obey the lights.

"NONINTERVENTION"

From New York Post

The reported threat of the Spanish government to bomb German and Italian cities is probably nothing more serious than a cry of rage and desperation.

Great Britain and France would go to almost any length to prevent such raids, on the grounds that they would lead Europe a long step nearer to general war.

Again and again Great Britain ad France have made concessions to Italy and Germany in Spain, with the hope that such concessions would "localize" the conflict. Now the loyalists talk of extending the theatre of war, in the hope that this will sway the vacillating Chamberlain cabinet in their direction.

The British government, which is the author of "nonintervention," has found itself led further and further into the Spanish conflict until the issue of who wins in Spain has become the responsibility of the British cabinet.

Prime Minister Chamberlain has only himself to blame if he seems to have a definite preference for the insurgent cause. But one can be sure that he did not intend that "nonintervention" should so clearly reveal the British course.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

BUSINESS HONESTY

ONE OF OUR local financial authorities has just sent me a copy of an inspiring address on business ethics. There are 18 closely-printed pages devoted to a condemnation of crookedness and sharp practice in the financial world and it winds up on this passionate note: "The fraudulent security criminal is a coward. Like all other criminals, what he fears most is punishment. In order to secure conviction, the criminal must be denounced and the victim must take the time and trouble to appear as a witness. If loss to the public alone determined what crimes we should punish most promptly, security frauds would rank at the top of the list."

This speech, entitled "Business Honesty," was delivered at Philadelphia, April 24, 1931, by Richard Whitney, then of New York, now of Sing Sing. Crime marches on.

OLD ALMANAC

MY OLD FRIEND, Gerry Wellburn of Deerholme, has probably the most valuable collection of useless antiquities in this part of the world and if he doesn't look out, secret agents of the British Museum, or the Congressional Library, or the Provincial Library, will break into his place some night, slay his family and make off with his treasures. Perhaps one shouldn't mention his ancient stamps, his letters written by Queen Elizabeth and similar articles, lest it lead to some grave crime of this sort, because collectors, of course, have no morals and will do anything and go anywhere to get some faded piece of paper with a few words scrawled on it.

Well, among Mr. Wellburn's latest scoops is an old almanac issued in 1762 in London and, among other things, it shows how the people of London lived and died in those times. If you go over the badly-printed figures with the quaint spelling you will see that, perhaps, after all the world is improving and the life of the average person getting easier, despite all the follies of our time.

In the year ending December 14, 1762, 15,321 babies were born in London and 26,326 people died. More than half the babies born, 8,372, died before they were two years old. In those days you had a fifty-fifty chance of bringing your child through two years. The chances of living to be 20 were about one in 10. Those were the good old days we like to dream about.

The causes of death in that year of 1762 were remarkable. Among other things, the almanac attributed deaths to the following causes: Moritication, 234; rifing of the lights, 27 (they always used the letter "f" for "s" in those days, with interesting results); burften and rupture, nine; stoppage of the stomach, 18; evil, 11 (something which seldom causes death or even regret now); cholick, gripes and twifting of the guts, 56; starved, three; murdered, three; executed, five; execeffive drinking, four; bit by mad dogs, one; worms, two; grief, seven; headache, three.

Nowadays all life is generally considered a headache, but nobody seems to die from it, nor from grief. We are evidently getting tougher.

PINK TEA WIDOWERS

WHILE I WAS contemplating these things, a prominent citizen rang me up (spending four cents, mind you, to reach out four miles into the wilds, so I knew he must be deeply moved), to ask me to do something about the habits of women. He said every man in town was finding his happiness ruined by afternoon teas. He said it used not to be so bad when afternoon teas started at 4 and ended at 5.30, but nowadays fashion demanded that they start at 5 and they never ended until 6.30, and when a man called for his wife to take her home he never got any dinner until 8, and no time in the garden in these fine, long evenings.

He said half the men in town were pink tea widowers and that, really, I ought to utter a protest on behalf of the whole sex and save my fellow men from threatened starvation. In the old days, he said, men used to stay out drinking liquor, and it was considered a serious social problem; but now women stay out drinking tea while their husbands and infants starve and no organization has done anything about it, the church takes no interest in it and no woman is asked to sign the pledge. And yet the disruptive effects on family life, the domestic discord, the injury of children are much more serious. He said I must do something for the pink tea widowers and I said I would add them to my list of great causes. My other causes are the little white bear and that exquisite piece of architecture on Pandora Avenue, Hawkins's Horror. But I must confess I am not making much progress.

THE TRUNKS THAT MOTHER USED TO PACK

Where are the trunks of yesteryear
When you and I were small
That hemmed us in, both far and near,
And cluttered up the hall?
Symbolic of a good long stay,—
And many an aching back;
Where are the trunks of yesterday
That mother used to pack?

A week before we went away
She worked without a stop.
The shoes deep in the bottom tray . . .
The picture hats on top,—
The sitting on the stubborn lid—
The straps that creaked and strained—
The little things in big things hid—
The nothing that remained,
The curving top where we could sit
Or stand, if we would dare,
Till the expressman came for it
And staggered down the stair—
The clatter of the horses' hoofs—
The seats so hard to find—
The cinder smell, the passing roofs—
The City left behind.

Where are the trunks of yesteryear?
Vanished for evermore,
When our vacation time draws near
We pack the day before;
But many a dream of summer's play,
That somehow now we lack,
Is in the trunks of yesterday
That mother used to pack.

PRICE OF CONFEDERATION

To the Editor:—It was with interest that I read your editorial "This Confederation." The conflict of authority between the Dominion and provinces has reached proportions that are threatening, if not dangerous. The Dominion Government is faced with situations that demand of it skillful and tactful handling. I refer specially to the so-called Padlock Act of the province of Quebec and its reception in different parts of our country. To the English-Canadian, living outside of Quebec, it seems a definite denial of those rights to which every British citizen is entitled yet to the French-Canadian it is his guarantee of peace and religious freedom. In my opinion—and it is the opinion of most sane thinking English Quebeckers—the alarm of Canadians is merely a confession of ignorance regarding the French-Canadian intellect. The French-Canadian is a quiet, untra-conservative individual with a very great love and respect for his church. Where his way of life and his religion were threatened he took steps to safeguard them. These steps were not towards Fascism nor towards separation. Those are the ideas of young and fiery individuals, the like of whom can be found in any university, town or village the world over. Naturally, these people and ideas are often taken by strangers or as representative of the whole district. Such is the case in the English-Canadian's view of Quebec and the French-Canadians.

The French-Canadian is not anti-Canadian, he is merely anti-imperialist. He has no desire to meddle in other peoples' affairs—Europe to him is of little concern, certainly not worth giving his life for. But let anyone attack Canadian shores and he will be the first to defend them.

On Confederation Day, when we all pause to think of what it commemorates, what sacrifices were made for it, and what value it is to us all, we should try to understand our partner's make-up and problems. Suspicion, misunderstanding and hostility between races and sections can do far more harm than any mere constitutional questions. The French-Canadian asks your understanding and friendship. Is it too great a price for Confederation?

LAWRENCE G. McDOUGALL.

NOT B.C.'S JOB

To the Editor:—As one who spilt blood for this country's action on the part of anybody to prevent the free movement of Canadian citizens. There is no authority in this land that has the right under the Constitution to bid anyone stay in any place or go from there.

This is done in Germany and Russia and although alien factors are striving to introduce these accursed systems, we are still captains of our souls, and our bodies unfettered as long as we abide by the reasonable laws of the land.

However, the burden of caring for all who may come from other parts should not fall upon one province. British Columbia cannot take care of all Canada. The solution of this situation is primarily a matter for the federal government, and it is certainly at a time like this that Federation should prove its worth.

Under Federation the province ceded certain sovereign rights for the better government of the whole country, in return, its reasonable and just expectations from co-operation with the rest of Canada should fructify. Or what is the benefit of Federation?

The relief of transients is a national matter and hence the business of the central government of the country. But it should also be taken note of that the large unemployed are not criminals, have broken no laws by being so, and deserve sympathy not persecution.

AN M.P.'S SENSE OF PROPORTION

To the Editor:—That Mr. J. S. Taylor, M.P., will not allow his "sense of proportion" to be "distorted" to the extent of resigning his seat to say nothing of his indemnity will surprise no one.

The C.C.F. has rejected him, the Liberals don't want him. It would be interesting to know what grounds he has for expecting to fare better at the next federal election than Messrs. Connell, Bakewell, Swalles, Price, Pritchard and others of their short-lived party—the name of which escapes my memory—did at the last provincial election.

FARMERS CRY FOR HELP, BUT SIT-DOWNERS CONTINUE TO SQUAT HERE

To the Editor:—I would urge all who think of the government as being compelled to do this or not do that—to remember it is in reality themselves—and that is for the federal as well as the provincial — in regard to the funds they administer for us.

Last winter we citizens of B.C. paid extra to keep men in camps here who had refused to accept the government placing on farms in Alberta and elsewhere. Now these men demand this should be continued, although there are reports from the prairies of a shortage of farm labor.

The public who urge keeping these transients in B.C. should offer to be assessed per head of family to pay for a camp for such men and for special work for the others, otherwise they are advocating the spending of money of others on those who refused to work elsewhere. But all worthy B.C. men who cannot find private employment after honestly trying for it should be given government employment most certainly — but not to just keep them, but that they should earn their keep worthily. Unfortunately so many thus employed here wasted our money and our property, because being a government job, it is quite the right thing to do in many peoples' eyes, in a government job.

MRS. ALICE COLCLOUGH.

EVEN RELIGIONS EVOLVE

To the Editor:—The contention of Mr. Eekman, who consigns evolutionists to perdition is flatly contradicted by the report of the church of England on doctrine, which states "no objection to the theory of evolution can be drawn from the two creation narratives in Genesis I and II, since it is generally agreed among educated Christians that these are mythological in origin."

Further, he is mistaken in associating the doctrine of the production of the universe "from nothing" with evolution.

As the "report" states, "historically the doctrine of the creation of the world out of nothing was affirmed by the Fathers."

The denial of this dogma was one of the heresies for which Bruno was burnt, and it is still held by the majority of Christians, but not "generally by educated Christians."

Nor was it the belief of the Hebrew compilers of Genesis. The sad truth for the fundamentalist is that religious systems, like everything else, are subject to the law of evolution, and the orthodoxy of yesterday becomes the heresy and unbelief of tomorrow.

Your correspondent's verdict reminds one of that of the old Scotch woman charged with holding that nobody but the minister and herself would be saved. "I hae ma doots about the meenister!"

I wish to take this opportunity to correct the suggestion in one of Merriman's recent "talks" that I formerly engaged in a controversy with "Imprimatur." My debate was with a far more redoubtable opponent, Mr. Guy Sheppard, and into this the anonymous "Fair Play" and "Imprimatur" and other Marxian Communists butted, a procedure that was neither heroic nor exactly complimentary to my antagonist.

BLOOD DONORS WANTED

To the Editor:—The Voluntary Blood Transfusion Service is in dire need of donors. This service must go forward, and it is an urgent necessity to many lives that it should.

We have appealed and the permanent force have responded wonderfully, but they cannot be expected to bear the brunt of being the only ones who are donating their blood voluntarily. True, we have had a number of men outside the permanent units volunteer, but they have been very few. So we appeal to all you younger and older men to help us go forward with this very worthwhile job of service for our fellow man.

Volunteers are asked to telephone either of the two hospitals before going there for a test. Hours for the Royal Jubilee Hospital are Mondays to Fridays 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. St. Joseph's Hospital Mondays to Fridays 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Special arrangements can be made for tests to be made on Saturdays if contact is made with each laboratory in plenty of time.

We give this challenge to you. Will you take it up?

DULL MATTER

To the Editor:—"Loose Ends" would have it that it is much easier to be profound than to be flippant. He says, "Any dub can view our economic system with alarm." The point is, is our economic system alarming? If so, ought one to be flippant about it?

In "Loose Ends" we read "the great Chesterton was one of the fellows who could be absurd and he was greater in his absurdity than any of the current pundits."

I can only say he cut a sorry figure among his contemporaries. Pardon! In my opinion, I was at the time prejudiced against any one who wrote or spoke against socialism. Chesterton did both. Nobody ever gained a fall in the battle against socialism. He, however, when cornered became flippant, and thus backed out. How I used to hate him! As I write this I realize it is like a gnat stinging an elephant. Cecil, overwhelmed physically and mentally by his brother, nevertheless was a true man. He once said, "Gilbert loves to play with words. I take words to mean something."

G. K. C. and such as he don't mean anything in this world. If "Loose Ends" would wish to emulate Chesterton, who is to say nay? I might envy both their talent: not so their aim. So long as there is malfeasance in high places any hypocrisy in our daily intercourse, to use such talent for mercenary ends is at least out of place.

Again, I can't see any need for them in this world, and certainly they will fill no niche in the hereafter. Of course, there is always the chance that any of us may view the Promised Land. Meantime, "He who is not for Me is against Me." A flippant note of yours, Mr. Editor, is quite in order.

The flood story has always seemed logical. The only way to reform the world is to start with a new generation.

F. A. THORNLEY.

SOCRED AS PANACEA

To the Editor—Quoting from a letter from Roberta Diehl, "It is all very well to say 'Give us this day our daily bread' while people of the world starve. But why not act?" I would like to point out that even the school children know something of the vast destruction of foodstuffs and the limitation of production that is going on in spite of the fact that half the population of the world have not enough for their needs.

The logical thing is the means of supplying people with these necessities instead of destroying them.

Social Credit exists for that purpose. It is not party politics, but a rapidly growing world-wide movement for the distribution of goods to the people.

Anyone genuinely interested in the welfare of the people will find plenty of "action" in this movement.

COMMUNISTIC TACTICS

To the Editor:—It is indeed news to those who have been following or observing the course pursued by the Communists of North America to be informed that they have thrown up their program and are now toiling behind Roosevelt. Might we ask if Bruce Hutchison implies that in Canada this applies the same as in the U.S.? One wonders if this is wishful thinking, seeing that there has been some condemnation of late in the Times of the policy of Chamberlain in Britain, and silence on the lack of one by Prime Minister King in Canada.

I have always understood that the strength of the Communist parties lay in their strategic changes of tactics to govern specific changes in the class struggle, and when at the present time the immediate issue is the defence of democratic institutions so laboriously fought for by the peoples of capitalist countries, surely any criticism of such a policy should be made only with the objective of advancing a better one.

May we look for this from the artistic pen of Bruce Hutchison, particularly just now when the crisis in unemployment and the advance of fascism are synchronous.

FEARS MOTOR BUSES

To the Editor:—Jas. de H. Curtis proclaims Victoria's need of motor buses. What will buses really mean to Victoria working people? I dread to think of what will happen once the street railway tracks are taken up. The first thing that the transportation companies are going to discover is that owing to cost of fuel, fares must be raised, and where this fare raising will end is indefinite. But rest assured it will hit a far higher rate than the present six-cent fare now enjoyed by the workers.

However, I do not think that the six-cent fare is reasonable, for while hundreds of people are walking to work, or to shop, the B.C.E.R. claims it is operating at a loss.

I have suggested to both the B.C.E.R. and the City Council that a three-cent fare be tried out, and there seems to be much reason to believe that patronage would be increased by such action, sufficiently to make all the difference between a loss and a profit.

Please note the cost of a ride on a bus today. Take as an example the Gordon Head trip, 25 cents each way, yet you can ride almost half of that trip for six cents. This is what is going to happen if the cars go out.

BOYS NOT SUBVERSIVE

To the Editor:—I was privileged to act as host to four of the unemployed men quartered in the hall on Yates Street. As far as I could see they were quite representative of the contingent now in Victoria. They were quiet, civil and wonderfully cheerful under the circumstances in which they find themselves. They ranged in age from 20 to 26 and all four had been in British Columbia over five years. They were just Canadian boys wanting steady work.

I did not detect the result of any "subversive" influences—a most over-worked term—though they all realized that there was something very wrong with the system which doomed them to a hand-to-mouth existence ever since they reached the working age. They gave no evidence of desiring to be "wards of the government" a day longer than necessary.

I admire these young men for organizing and sticking together in their fight to win for themselves a place in the economic life of our country. If private industry cannot absorb them without breaking down the Canadian standard of life, their problem is certainly the responsibility of government.

Might I suggest to you Victorians who consider these young men undesirable "outsiders" that you contact them personally and render them some little personal service. It will be appreciated by the men and it will do yourselves a lot of good.

A VOICE FROM THE YUKON

To the Editor:—I learned a lesson at Glenora on the Stickine River. After being upset and losing our outfit, I was sitting on a log admiring the huge logs going down the stream. I saw a duck, whether tame or wild I could not say. But I took it for my guide to press forward against the stream. During the past 40 years I have noticed large human logs go down with the tide of questionable practice—and as regards this camp it seems to be at its ebb.

My motto was then and is today to make this place better than I found it. For the past 28 years I have been persecuted and robbed of my just rights. To enumerate them would be a waste of time, suffice it to say that I am getting photos taken to represent my side of the corrupt methods carried on here.

OUR DISAPPEARING FREEDOM

To the Editor:—Is it possible to arouse the people before it is too late to demand the immediate cancelation of a new clause to be inserted in the Electoral Act, whereby members will not be responsible to those who elect them?

This clause is so cunningly worded that its fascist intention will be overlooked by many. It will make it illegal for any candidate to sign any document that will prevent him from exercising freedom of action in parliament. In other words, he will be at liberty to vote as he wants and not necessarily as his constituents want.

The whole use of democratic representation for which our ancestors fought is being slowly taken from us and little by little we are falling under the spell of Special Powers Acts everywhere.

Unless we rouse ourselves we are going to wake up soon to find every avenue of freedom securely blocked by legal barriers. Once that happens we are trapped and any effort then to break free becomes a threat against the so-called constitution and provides the justification for the use of armed force in support of law and order.

Your member is chosen by you, elected by you and paid by you to do your will and not the will of the party or of the interests backing the party.

But in a democracy we must define our policy, give clear directions to our representatives as to the results we want. This does not involve telling them how we want it done. It is their duty to see that the government engages the necessary technicians to devise the plans which will give the results we want.

If we can be made to discuss methods and vote for methods rather than results we will continue to be fooled. Don't argue—demand.

The Nanaimo riding has recently had every reason to understand their helplessness in making their member do their will, but what we now want to ensure is that this does not happen again under a law which will make such action not only possible but legally justified.

Encourage every one to write their member and the Prime Minister of Canada and demand the cancellation of this clause before it becomes law.

A. H. JUKES, Major.

GLAD TO KNOW

To the Editor:—In reading the daily newspapers, I noticed how difficult the situation in many countries is at present. It probably will be getting worse before it is settled, especially in Spain and in China. In spite of the difficulty in many countries at the present time, I wish to suggest to the public I am glad to know that those four little nations Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Finland are showing a friendly relationship to Great Britain and the United States. I appreciate that those four little nations with Great Britain on sanctions and on nonintervention, and I am glad to know that they are defending their democratic principles and religious freedom against all anti-democratic influence.

NOOTKA'S MISSION HOSPITAL

To the Editor:—The local committee of the Nootka Mission General Hospital held its monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Budge Young, McBride Bay, last week. At this meeting I was instructed to reach as many of the kind friends of the hospital as possible with a word of appreciation and thanks for all their aid, both moral and financial. This I do with all my heart, and will give a brief summary of what has transpired in the last 11 months since Dr. H. A. McLean commenced operating in this area.

Last summer there was no medical man in all this district, including Zeballos, Kyuquot, McBride Bay, Nootka and Cepeecee. The nearest doctor was at Tofino, 75 miles to the south and east. Dr. McLean decided to settle here. With no finances, except a few dollars which had come by his own labors, he commenced to hew out a spot in this wilderness on which to build. The spot chosen was at Hidden Creek, one mile west of Cepeecee, on Hecate Strait. Since that time hundreds of cases have been treated by the doctor and his staff, which includes Beatrice Weller as matron, Ruth Portway, assistant, and Harold Shannon, general handyman.

As many as eight patients have been treated at the hospital at one time, and since the hospital opened in its little way in December, 400 patient days have been reported and 850 out-patients. The new X-ray and special equipment have all aided in the relieving of suffering, and the saving of thousands of dollars to the patients who would otherwise be forced to travel long distances to outside medical men.

So with a fervent "God bless you," may I convey to all our interested friends and helpers in Victoria our hearty "thanks" for your continued kindness to us.

Dr. Charles has lately come to assist in the work in this district, which greatly helps to meet the need.

PERCY E. WILLS, President.

MR. ANDROS'S "DOWN BELOW"

To the Editor:—As to our neighbor's witty rhymes on "Letter Writers," may I point out that his "profession of faith" in the regions "Down Below" justifies my effort to restore the lost knowledge of them? He should not be too hasty in pushing all other letter writers down there.

Moreover, since the clever cannot sparkle save by the dullness of the dull, why should he complain? As our philosopher thus shows:

"There would be no light without shade. Suppose mere light, and no greater or less degree thereof, of no decrease even to shade; in such case it could never be affirmed of light, that it was anything; neither would images exist, which are variegations of shade and light; nor colors; in a word, there would be no visible world. . . ."—"A Hieroglyphic Key."

OPPOSES OUSTING SIT. DOWNERS

To the Editor:—How clearly the past and present week are demonstrating to us the crying need of Social Credit! What is happening now, could not possibly have happened if Social Credit were in operation. Five hundred homeless and workless boys in their teens and early twenties—herding together in the hope of forcing some form of paid employment.

Before anyone speaks harshly of them, let them think:

It is a law of nature to go from place to place in search of sustenance.

Every creature that cannot find food and water where it is, moves on to another spot—it is compelled to, by hunger, and by thirst!

I see some of the workless boys—dejected and penniless walking the streets. I find it difficult to believe that any damage, or violence would have occured in Vancouver, had the jobless been permitted to continue to occupy the building in which they only slept; and to find means of obtaining food and cleanliness. The violence was after ejection, and after forbidding them to sell or beg. It was certainly not conducted against those who helped them—you may be assured of that! It was the unusual outcome of ignorance; that this should have happened.

Has it occurred to the comfortably off; who speak against them that, if all of the 500 boys break the law (in order to get food or shelter), they will be conveyed to prisons, where they will be sure of food, shelter and clothing, and a job of sorts? If Victoria compells them thus to go to prison, it will cost the province more money, than providing work, and getting something in return for the outlay.

Remember the words of President Roosevelt: "The millions who are in want will not stand by silently forever while the things to satisfy their needs are within easy reach."

So soon as the possibility of satisfying—at least some of their needs—is taken from the jobless men, Victoria may rest assured that its complacency, its self-satisfaction will be badly shaken.

Let those young men of Victoria—who have home, work and other blessings to enjoy—when they see any of the jobless in the streets, apply to themselves the words of Bunyan:—"There goes John Bunyan, but for the grace of God"—the grace of God is giving them home and blessings to enjoy—and each say of himself: "There goes John Smith, but for the grace of God!"

Should any young men have bathing suits to spare or discard, it would help the workless lads to give these to them—magazines might also be welcome. With bathing suits many of them could enjoy a little bathing or swimming. I feel sure Mrs. Matheson would be glad to receive any gifts at 1010 Langley Street. The telephone number is E 0708, or G 1532.

These jobless men are a clear, indisputable, living proof of the crying need of Social Credit!

BACK TO DAYTON

To the Editor:—I know that anyone who attempts to answer Mr. Eckman must stub his toe, and that very frequently, as I have noted on several occasions by answers from various of your correspondents to his mysticism. However, apart from this, I feel compelled to answer him when he endeavors to deal with facts which are matters of record. Any of your readers who might be interested in the facts would do well to read the record of the case that occurred at Dayton, Tennessee. An abbreviated record of this was printed in the Readers' Digest of August, 1935, and anyone who would claim that Mr. Bryan won the case, after reading the records—well, my best definition of them would be given by stating that words fail me.

Mr. Eckman claims that Leopold found his theory of life in Nietzsche. This is purely an imagination to discredit Mr. Darrow. Mr. Eckman also claims that I forgot the old Latin adage, "De mortius nil nisi bonum," when I attack Mr. Bryan. I distinctly stated in my letter that I am not an advocate or admirer of Christian ethics. So, therefore, I never made any claims for the phrase, outside of the fact that those who make claims for Christian ethics should not ignore it, as Mr. L. Noble did in his letter of attack on Clarence Darrow.

BRITAIN'S GREATNESS

To the Editor:—We are informed by Mr. Fred Ulrich in no uncertain manner that "Great Britain became great by becoming a Protestant country." This statement would, no doubt, be very interesting to quite a number of individuals were it not so utterly ridiculous.

There are, however, many who rightly or wrongly seem to think that Great Britain, like other highly industrialized countries, "became great" basically by the exploitation and capitalists' appropriation of the fruits of unpaid labor, i.e., surplus values, created or produced by the working class.

As it is a fact, not merely a belief, that "all" wealth is "produced" by the application of human labor power to natural resources and raw materials, the credit given to the Protestant religion seems to be somewhat faulty. While your correspondent emphatically states that "Great Britain is great" because of being a "Protestant country," he implies that the greatness depends on, when needed, the force and violence of French and Russian military power. When putting the two statements side by side it seems difficult to make them jibe.

Mr. Ulrich makes use of the definite statement that "Great Britain has a firm alliance with France." We seem to remember that much has been said in the press concerning "Scraps of Paper." May we ask Mr. Ulrich what factual evidence he can produce to prove that "Soviet Russia," with its wages system and exploitation of the working class by the state, is "Socialist"?

Toronto Writer Charmed With Victoria

Miss Marie Holmes Of Toronto Star Here Over Week-end

Looking much more like a movie star than a writer, Miss Marie Holmes, the Emily Post of Toronto, spent the week-end at the Empress Hotel, supper dancing, sight-seeing and taking afternoon tea Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart at "Benvenuto."

Tall, slim, blonde, smartly gowned, with sparkling blue eyes alive with the joy of life, Miss Holmes writes things for the Toronto Daily Star about behaviorism generally, food in particular, and clothes every now and again; how to entertain, where and, occasionally, why.

Miss Holmes goes to New York twice a year on business connected with her writing; holidays in Florida and designs her own clothes. She is tremendously interested in hand-woven fabrics and was one of the most enthusiastic visitors at the hand-weaving exhibition at the Empress Hotel, spending an hour examining these fascinating fabrics.

Miss Holmes was delighted with her visit to Victoria — her first trip to the west—and intends to laud its charms and induce more easterners to visit the west.

Former Victoria Girl Marries In London

Mrs. Patricia Leverin Is Bride Of Lieut.-Com. C. Pollock

A wedding of much interest to a wide circle of friends here took place in Holy Trinity Church, Brompton, Kensington, London, on the afternoon of June 18, when Mrs. Patricia Leverin, widow of the late Capt. H. Leicester Leverin, R.C.E., Victoria, became the bride of Lieutenant-Commander Charles Harrington Pollock, R.N., son of the late Mr. George Hume Pollock and Mrs. Pollock of Croft House, Stansted, Essex.

The bride, who was the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Heming of Victoria, was a charming picture in her smart gown of figured blue crepe and small blue hat to match. She was given in marriage by Mr. Ford, an old friend of the family.

After the ceremony, the bridal couple passed beneath an arch of swords held by fellow-officers of the bridegroom. A reception followed at 66 Onslow Gardens, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrington, the bridegroom's uncle and aunt.

After a honeymoon spent motoring in Devonshire, Lieutenant-Commander and Mrs. Pollock took up residence on July 1 at 165 Marlborough Road, Gillingham, Kent.

Weddings

RANT—KERSWELL

On Thursday afternoon at 2.30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Low, View Royal, Rev. G. A. Reynolds solemnized the wedding of Patricia Elaine, eldest daughter of Mrs. Kerswell, of Colquitz Avenue, and the late Mr. Kerswell, and John Kingsford, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Rant, of Braylorne, B.C.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, looked charming in a dress of navy blue sheer with white bolero and white accessories. The bride was unattended. Mr. Bruce Low was best man.

Refreshments were served from a buffet covered with a venetian lace cloth, centred with a silver basket of pink carnations in a setting of pink tulle.

The bride and groom left to spend a honeymoon up-island. On their return they will reside in View Royal.

Girls Journey To C.G.I.T. Camp

Merry Party of 61 To Holiday At Glinz Lake

The showery weather yesterday morning gave place later to brilliant sunshine and cheered the hearts of the 61 girls who journeyed out to Glinz Lake in a merry party for the opening of the C.G.I.T. holiday camp at that beauty spot.

On their arrival they were welcomed by Vivian Shoemaker, Y.M.C.A. official in charge of preparing the camp for the summer's activities.

Headed by a group of C.G.I.T officials, the girls abandoned scheduled preparation of living quarters for an eager exploration of the attractive campsite that will be their home until July 13. On July 18 the grounds will be taken over by a Y.M.C.A. boys' contingent.

C.G.I.T. officials in charge of camp activities follow: Miss D. Beach, director; leaders, M. Mossop, Eileen Davidson, Loretta McCall, Charlotte Crawford, Louise Noble and Maureen Whitehouse. The camp nurse is Mrs. W. Fletcher, and Mrs. M. A. Fleming occupies the position of camp mother. Miss Eleanor Peden is sports director.

Doctor Extols Virtues of Honey

NEW YORK (CP) — Honey is "Nature's own sweet, untouched by human art," according to Dr. Bodog Beck, writing in his book, "Honey and Health."

"Honey and other simple and natural sugars like that in dates, figs, raisins, etc., are live physiological sugars which contain the germs of life, while industrial sugars are anti-physiological, dead, or, as a matter of fact, murdered sweets," he writes.

Pursuing this line of thought, Dr. Beck deems honey in hot water better than alcohol as a quick pick-me-up; he says that the ancient Greek athletes and "the modern sprinters of the Toronto Y.M.C.A." wisely used it before entering the arena; that it prolongs life, being responsible for Anacreon's living to the age of 115, Pythagoras to 90, and probably for the long life of Moses and Methusalah, while Thomas Parr, who died in 1635, at the age of 152, was devoted to a honey drink known as metheglin.

It is a good expectorant, according to Hippocrates; a diuretic, according to the Koran; an aphrodisiac, according to Norman Douglas; an anti-rheumatic, according to Dr. Beck's correspondent, J. L. McD., of Marion, Ind.; an anti-diabetic, according to Dr. A. Y. Davidov of Russia; a bactericide, according to the Chinese and the Hindus and a New York State subscriber to the American Bee Journal; it is also an excellent preservative and one of the finest cosmetics. And the date is the only edible substance which surpasses honey in calories.

Stars in "Gone With the Wind"

Norma Shearer, above (of Montreal, Quebec), and Clark Gable, right (of Cadiz, O.), will play Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler, the leads in the movie version of "Gone With the Wind." David Selznick proclaims that he will have the cameras grinding on the spectacle by Christmas-time. Miss Shearer won the much-coveted part of the Georgia heroine after Selznick had spent nearly $300,000 testing various aspirants for the role. Margaret Mitchell, who wrote the book, said she thought Shearer and Gable would make "a grand team."

Royal Fete At Old French Chateau

King and Queen To Visit Historic Pavilion In Paris

PARIS (CP)—"Bagatelle," of course, was the only possible choice for the garden party offered to King George and Queen Elizabeth by the French government for the visit to France, now postponed owing to the death of the Queen's mother, July 19.

Didn't Queen Victoria ask especially to be entertained here when she paid her visit to Louis Philippe? The good Queen knew what she was about, too, for no more beautiful gardens exist in Paris. The 200-year-old reputation of Bagatelle for gay parties, tall of which were not so decorous as the coming affair promises to be) adds something to the glamour.

Bagatelle (which means trinket or bauble) is an appropriate name for the beautiful little 18th-century chateau, which, compared to other royal chateaux, is not much more than a pavilion. It proved expensive for Marie-Antoinette, however, who lost just £100,000 to the Count d'Artois when he won his bet with her that he could rebuild the palace in two months. It was immediately named "d'Artois' Folly," a name which sticks to this day.

BUILT IN 1710

With a good deal of cajoling the French government has finally persuaded workmen to finishing the repainting and polishing so that today its white walls, dome and daintily-carved frieze look as fresh and charming as they did 100 years ago.

First built about 1710, King Louis XV with an intimate circle of courtiers and ladies, spent a good deal of time there. Too much, thought Madame de Pompadour, who finally put her foot down and convinced Louis that he had better remain at Versailles with her. It had been the rendezvous for the wit and elegance of the court, while the suppers, fetes and plays given on the terrace and in the garden were the most daring and gay of the day.

With the loss of the King, the Bagatelle went into eclipse for many years until the Count d'Artois proposed that he could restore it in 64 days. It appeared so absurd to everybody that the whole court wagered he couldn't. He hired 900 workmen and scandalized Paris by sending a regiment of Swiss guards to seize all the vehicles transporting quarried stone and building materials on all the main routes to Paris, paying for it on the spot.

HOUSED GARRISON

During the revolution Bagatelle housed a garrison of soldiers and later was turned into a "peoples" amusement park. Finally an English nobleman, Sir Richard Hertford, bought the property, designed a magnificent "English" garden and willed the whole to his adopted son Sir Richard Wallace (who gave the celebrated "Wallace Collection" of French art to London). Wallace lived there until his death in 1890 when the French government bought it back as a historical monument.

One claim to fame is the magnificent rose garden. Every year an international rose competition is held there and roses come from all countries of the world—even in a few flowerpots from Canadian backgardens being sometimes entered.

Modern Etiquette

1. Is it customary for a house guest to give his hostess some sort of gift?

2. When may a house guest give his hostess a gift?

3. Is it wise for a hostess to invite guests for a week-end if they aren't congenial?

4. Should a guest join in a family argument?

5. Should a house guest keep his room neat?

What would you do if—

You have been having dates for a few months with a young man and you know that his birthday is near. He has never given you a gift. Would you

(a) Buy him a birthday gift?
(b) Ignore his birthday?
(c) Wish him a happy birthday, if you see him on that day?

Answers

1. Yes, but not necessary. Only the bread-and-butter note is expected.

2. A guest can bring it to her; buy something after he arrives if he is free to do so, or send it to her after the visit.

3. No. If uncongenial people have to be entertained, it is kinder for all if a whole week-end isn't devoted to it.

4. No.

5. Yes.

Banting Making New Shock Drug

By JANE STAFFORD
Copyright 1938.

SAN FRANCISCO—A drug better and less severe than either insulin or metrazol as a sanity-restoring remedy for the hitherto hopeless mental ailment, schizophrenia, seems promised by research reported by Dr. G. Edward Hall of the Univerity of Toronto in the American Psychiatic Association.

Appropriately enough, this important work is going on at the laboratories and under the direction of Sir Frederick Banting, the man who gave insulin to the world in the first place as a life-saving remedy for diabetes.

The drug that may be the weapon for final conquest of schizophrendia, most widespread mental disease, has not yet been found. Specifications for it, however, are being prepared in the studies reported here and the search for the drug is already under way.

"Neither insulin nor metrazol," Dr. Hall told me while fellow scientists were congratulating him and acclaiming his work "will be the ultimate drug used to produce beneficial effects in schizophrenia."

The ultimate drug, according to present specifications, will be one which either gives the brain anemia temporarily or slows down its electrical activity, or perhaps does both, because careful laboratory investigations by a whole team of scientists, including physiologists, a neurologist and an electrical engineer, show that the two effects which both insulin shock and metrazol shock produce in animals are brain anemia and a change in electrical activity to a pattern of very slow, random brain waves. These two effects, presumably, and no others, are responsible for the cures being achieved by insulin and metrazol.

In addition, the new drug will probably not produce convulsions and patients will not have to undergo anything like the severity of the shock treatment now used to reclaim their minds from the unreal and often unhappy world of schizophrenia.

Besides Sir Frederick Banting and Dr. Hall, the research team which is unravelling the mystery of why insulin or metrazol can restore sanity consists of Dr. W. R. Franks, Dr. B. Mendel, B. Leibell, J. E. Goodwin and Dr. D. P. C. Lloyd. The need for such a team of scientists drawn from various fields was emphasized by Dr Hall, who said that schizophrenia and its chemical or pharmacological cure is too big a problem to be attacked from one angle or by one man.

The aid of psychiatrists, Dr. Hall said, will be enlisted when he and his associates are ready with a drug for use in treating patients.

Psychiatrists are enthusiastic because work such as Dr. Hall reported promises not only a better weapon for treating schizophrenia but also greater knowledge of the physical effects of insulin or metrazol on the brains of the patients. This research of the Toronto scientist also offers promise of finding the defect or fault in the physical mechanism of the brain that results in schizophrenia, in other words, the cause of the disease.

The psychiatrists have so far been working in the dark with insulin and metrazol, getting good results in many cases, but not knowing exactly why. Even the original discoveries of insulin shock treatment by Dr. Manfred Sakel of Vienna and of metrazol treatment by Dr. L. Von Meduna of Budapest seem to have resulted from what might be termed good "hunches."

A note of caution on the whole problem of shock treatment of schizophrenia will be sounded when psychiatrists from all over the country report details of their results. Reminder of direct danger appears in one report of three deaths in insulin-treated patients.

Further caution is urged on the ground that not enough time has elapsed to make sure that the cures will be lasting. Even if they should not be, the treatment is worthwhile in one psychiatrist's opinion because it at least restores patients to useful, normal life for a period of time, if not for life.

CRICKETERS AT BANQUET

Hollywood and Victoria Players Are Guests at Civic Affair

Visiting Hollywood cricketers and the Victoria players who met them in a match here yesterday, along with several well-known local enthusiasts, gathered at the Empress Hotel last night for a banquet as the guests of the city of Victoria. G. Hamilton Harman, president of the Victoria and District Cricket Association, was chairman.

On behalf of Mayor Andrew McGavin, who was unable to attend, Alderman Alex. Peden read a message of welcome from the city's chief magistrate. Alderman Peden extended a personal welcome to the Hollywood players and congratulated them on their success in introducing an old English game in a foreign country. The alderman then told the visitors how this city has developed many high ranking athletes in a varied line of athletics.

Speaking for the cricket association, Harman declared the interchange of visits was a splendid gesture for the game and did much to bring closer together the peoples of two great countries. He hoped these international matches would continue for a great many years, if not indefinitely.

Frank Doyle, skipper of the Hollywood team, in replying, introduced the members of his side with a few breezy remarks about each player. He thanked the Victorians for their fine welcome and wonderful hospitality. "My only regret is that we have to cut our visit so short, but the next time we come north I hope it will be possible to spend an extra day in your city," Doyle said. Doyle told his audience how cricket was being developed in California and paid tribute to the wonderful efforts of C. Aubrey Smith, the man responsible for introducing the sport in Hollywood.

Tommy Freebairn-Smith expressed the thanks of the Hollywood players to those responsible for making the visits of the Hollywood team possible. "We, in California, are playing cricket in what might be termed a lonely outpost of Empire, and we are glad our efforts are appreciated," he said.

Hubert Lethaby, veteran Victoria player, introduced the members of the Victoria side, following which he held a "mock court" and laid various "charges" against the visiting players and, strangely enough, they all pleaded "guilty," much to the enjoyment of others at the banquet.

Eric Quainton, skipper of the Victoria team in yesterday's match, also spoke briefly, paying tribute to the Hollywood players on their exhibition.

The banquet was brought to a fitting close with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Scouters May Not Have Camp

There was a disappointed group of boys at the meeting of the Second Cathedral Boy Scout Troop Friday night when it was learned there would be no summer camp this year owing to the fact no one could be secured to look after the youngsters during their two-week outing.

Summer camping has for years been an annual event in the scouting fraternity.

It was reported that the troop leaders were otherwise engaged and could not take the two weeks off to attend the camp. However, if there are any persons in the city who would be willing to donate their services for the two weeks they are asked to communicate with Dick Batey, 800 Gorge Road West, phone E 7293.

Burrards were dismissed for the small total of 113, and Calgary replied with 237.

Trail batsmen failed against the Vancouver Wednesday League XI bowlers on Brockton oval and went down by a margin of three wickets. The smelter town XI scored 116 and the midweekers replied with 152 for the loss of seven wickets.

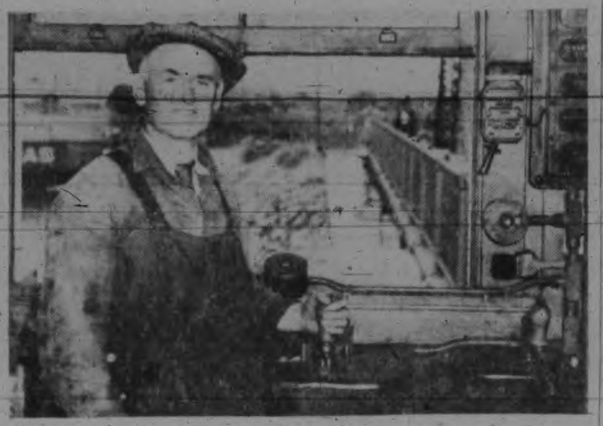
RELIEF LIMITS

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan will not issue relief to unemployed who come here from other provinces, said W. W. Dawson, director of relief, in a statement issued yesterday. Relief will be continued to needy residents provided they return to the municipalities in which they have established residence qualifications, the statement said.

UNUSUAL JOBS—Bridge Operator



"It's the monotony that gets you," said R. E. Ford, who is listed rather cryptically in the city directory as "chief bridge operator, Victoria City." But the story which he pieced out inside the machinery-packed little control house on the Johnson Street bascule bridge sounded anything but monotonous.

Mr. Ford, who lives at 2614 Avebury Avenue, has been wagging the two 120-foot spans of the bridge up and down ever since it was built in 1922.

The two spans have to be raised on an average 400 times a month. Every lift is recorded in a log book, as is every movement of railway equipment across the north span.

CARS ARE WORST

"It's kind of a nerve-racking job," he said. "People will walk over the rail bridge, and you have to see they're off, and then you have to see the trains are all clear. But the cars are the worst. If the driver of one car sees another car on the bridge when the bell's ringing he thinks he can beat it too, and then another sees that one on the bridge, and it goes on that way."

Mr. Ford is grateful to the traffic lights on Douglas and Yates Streets. Since they were installed people have got used to red and green lights, with a great drop in the number of cars crashing the gates.

Mr. Ford couldn't say how many separate controls he had to work to get the bridges raised. He was trying to figure it out when three long blasts from a tug set him going about his business. He counted as he worked. By the time the two spans were raised he had moved 17 different controls, and it took the same number to get the bridges down again.

Apparently raising the bridge is child's play, beside getting it down again. It has to be lowered to within an eighth of an inch of the abutment before the locks will go home. The counterweights on the road and rail bridges weigh respectively 900 and 670 tons, and it takes a delicate hand to keep that mass moving without too much momentum.

Apart from cars and the manifold regulations covering the working of the bridge which must not be moved within 15 minutes of a train's arrival or departure Mr. Ford's chief worries are road menders and careless steamboat officers.

Not so long ago the city streets department dumped 3,000 pounds of material on the span of the road bridge, and the whole weight had to be balanced off with 150-pound concrete blocks hoisted into cavities in the great counterweights.

Of the steamboat officers, Mr. Ford said, "Some of them will just blow anything. It's three long blasts for the bridge, three short for going astern, and two longs and a short for the customs. Half the time you can't tell which they mean. You just have to use your instinct."

Mr. Ford works eight-hour shifts with E. W. Patton and A. E. Fraser.

On October 19, 1880, a patent was granted on a simple chalk mark. This chalk mark was to be placed on a concave flange, to be applied to chair, tables and other pieces of furniture, and was supposed to keep out ants and other insects.

License Total Continues Rise

Registration of Cars in British Columbia Nears 100,000 Mark

Despite a slight falling off in the registration during May, licensing of cars for operation on British Columbia highways continues at a record pace, according to statistics released by Provincial Police.

To the end of May there were 97,632 cars registered in the province as compared with 93,611 for the same period last year.

This total included 78,376 passenger vehicles and 19,256 commercial machines.

During May there were 6,911 passenger vehicles and 19,256 commercial machines.

During May there were 6,911 passenger cars registered and 1,275 commercial vehicles to make a month's total of 8,186 as compared with 8,541 for May last year.

An increase of 105 in the number of nonresident touring permits was reported, the total issue to the end of May being 1,275 as against 1,170 for last year.

Gyros Inspect Printing Plant

Service Club Members Are Shown Through Printery After Luncheon Meeting

The Gyros changed the procedure of their luncheon yesterday by inspecting the government printing plant. They were shown through the building by Charles F. Banfield, King's Printer. Lunch was served in the Empress Hotel.

Prior to leaving for the printing plant, Mr. Banfield spoke briefly. He said that the plant had grown tremendously in the last few years. There were 30,000 square feet of space in the new building in comparison with 17,000 square feet in the old location.

He said that it was a self-supporting plant with a small reserve fund and it had never been behind financially.

Since 1868 there had been but three King's Printers, which showed that it was not controlled politically.

The club members were taken through the plant in three groups. They were shown through the composing room, the press room and the bindery.

Mr. Banfield said that there was nothing secret about the plant. He said, however, that it was necessary to be careful when the government school exam papers are run off.

Everett Taylor, president of the club, was in the chair and Art Minnis introduced the speaker.

On the Danube

By PETER STURSBERG

ALONG THE DANUBE.

THE FIRST PILOT of the Danube was a toothless old peasant woman at Ulm. She sat in the back of an ancient barge which was attached to a guy wire strung across the river. By pushing or pulling the right amount on the tiller, her boat was swept crab-wise by the swift current to and fro between the banks.

For five pfennig I crossed in this crude ferry which must have been used throughout all ages that the tides of men have ebbed and flowed along this historical waterway of Europe.

Navigation on the Danube is supposed to begin at Ulm, but only one passenger boat a month makes the trip to Passau (where regular river steamers run) and that had already left.

But it is not for a boat alone that you should go to Ulm. Parts of this city, which has one of the best preserved walls I have seen, compare with the 400-year-old town around the Roemer, the hall of the Teutonic kings, in Frankfurt.

And Ulm and Frankfurt had much in common. Just as Frankfurt was the great centre of commerce in northern Germany, so Ulm was the merchant capital of southern Germany during the sixteenth century. Its craftsmen were known the world over.

The magnificent old town hall has history painted in strikingly colorful scenes on all its walls. There is a part of Ulm that vies with Venice for canals divide the old fishermen's houses, with knockers on the doors carved in the shape of fishes.

At Ulm is a cathedral which claims to have the highest spire in the world. I climbed it and I can tell you I thought I had done pennance enough for the day. But it was worth it for I was nearer heaven up there, at least 500 feet nearer (the spire is 530 feet high and we could not have been more than 20 feet from the top) and there was a wonderful view of the old town and the Danube winding through the plain below.

Though I personally cannot see the point of building a cathedral to seat twice the inhabitants of the town—that was the plan of the Ulm Cathedral when it was started and though the population increased considerably, for it took six centuries to finish, I must admit that it was worth while for it is a thing of beauty and if beauty means anything it must have increased the happiness of the people around.

To me the famous Cologne Cathedral does not even compare with the Ulm Cathedral. The tremendously high spire is in magnificent symmetry and stone had been used as though it were iron in the lattice work at the top. It is a perfect example of gothic splendor.

Even the interior, which I usually find dark and dreary in these old churches, is light and beautiful and most impressive in its simplicity and noticeable lack of images.

Griffin's 92 Is Highlight

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

WHEN AL HOSTAK, hard-hitting Slav, battles Freddie Steele for the world middleweight championship in Seattle on July 26, he will be fighting the ringster he idolized during the early stages of his career. Hostak, Just 22 years of age, has always been a great admirer of the Tacoma champion and a couple of years age had few thoughts of ever meeting his idol in a Seattle ring for the world title.

Steele won his crown from Eddie Risko in Seattle and not a few of the experts suspect he will lose it there to Hostak, the lad with the whistling right hand. In his last start Steele looked none too formidable in taking a 10-round decision from tough and rugged Solly Krieger of New York.

Switch-hitting appears to be dying out in baseball, bearing out Andy High's contention that the players, despite lingering ideas to the contrary, can do better confining their activities to one side of the plate.

"I never could see the switch-hitter's point," says High, the old third baseman and coach.

"Though I was a left-hand hitter, I could hit left-handed pitching as well as I could the right-handed.

"If a batter takes the attitude that curves, no matter which way they break, have to be over the plate to be strikes, he doesn't have to worry about just how the pitcher is serving. It's strictly a question of mental attitude."

FRANK FRISCH was the last really great switch-hitter, but since the Fordham Flash passed out of the active picture, Augie Galan of the Chicago Cubs has been the only player who could do a better than average job of swinging from either side of the platter.

And Galan isn't sticking to the practice as closely as he used to.

Teammates claim the California outfielder gets more distance batting right-handed, but that he's more dependable when swinging from the left side.

"Most batters who become switch-hitters do so because they can't stand up and hit a curve that is breaking away from them," explains High.

"They either lack confidence or are afraid that the ball won't break and might hit them."

The sports parade, with its upsets and drama, moved rapidly in the first half of 1938. Have you kept up with it? How well can you recall the high spots of its march? If you can answer half of the following questons you are well informed. If you know 75 per cent of them you can just about call yourself an expert.

The questions follow:

What minor league goaltender was the hero of the Stanley Cup hockey finals?

Name the winner of the Canadian men's singles badminton championship.

Who won the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree?

Name the scoring leader in the National Hockey League. In the league playoffs.

Who ran a 4.04.4 mile?

Name the winner of the King's Plate.

What Canadian ball player made a brilliant batting debut in the National League?

What famous old-time golf champion died?

Who won the Hart Trophy, awarded annually to the most valuable player to his club in the N.H.L.?

Name the winner of the Epsom Derby?

Name the swimmer who scored a double victory at the British Empire Games.

Did Kimberley Dynamiters win the Allan Cup hockey championship this year?

What famous forward-passer returned to Canada to play football after a year's absence?

What province won the Macdonald's Brier curling bonspiel?

Who won the United States open golf championship?

Which of the Brown twins of Meaford, Ont., won the broad-jump at the British Empire Games?

How many games did Toronto Leafs require to defeat Boston in the best-of-five N.H.L. playoff series?

Who won the British amateur golf championship?

Note—The answers to these questions will appear in the Sports Mirror tomorrow.

Young Victoria Cricketer Has Fine Innings in Draw With Hollywood Side

Adopting strong defensive tactics, after going to the wicket late in the afternoon, the touring Hollywood cricketers forced a draw in their match with the Victoria representative eleven at Macdonald Park yesterday afternoon. The result left the touring side's record for British Columbia at two victories and one stalemate. The Californians are scheduled to play the final match of their tour in Vancouver today.

Winning the toss Victoria went in to bat and scored 166 runs for the loss of six wickets. The locals declared 15 minutes after the tea interval. Needing 167 for a victory and with less than two hours to do it, the Californians "stonewalled" and when stumps were drawn at 7 they had put on 61 runs for the loss of eight wickets.

Alan Griffin's splendid innings of 92 was the feature of the Victoria stand. The young Five C's player tried desperately to become the third batsman to put on a century at the Macdonald pitch, but was finally caught out by Art Williamson from Eugene Walsh's bowling. Victoria delayed declaring in an attempt to permit Griffin to make his century. Griffin hit out with confidence, and his score included one six and seven fours.

WEAK OPENING

Victoria got away to a weak opening and three wickets were down for 6 runs when the entire complexion of the match changed. Griffin was then joined by Eric Quainton, Victoria skipper, and the pair put on a smart innings which carried the score to 106 for four, Quainton contributed a splendid 33, being caught by Joseph Drury off Robert Ortwin's bowling.

Griffin was joined by George Payne, and this pair continued to add runs fast. At the tea interval they were still together with the score at 152. Shortly after resuming, Payne was clean bowled by Peter Kinnell with his score at 22. Frank Tyrrell took his place at the wickets, and when Griffin was caught Victoria declared.

Ortwin and Kinnell were the opening batsmen for Hollywood, facing the bowling of Jack Payne and G. Hepworth. The visitors were anything but sure at the wickets, and elected to take few chances against the deadly bowling of the left handers. In the first half hour the Californians had put only 10 runs on the board.

Ortwin put on 16 before being caught by Tyrrell off Payne. Frank Doyle, visiting skipper, was their high bat with a fine stand of 26, before he was bowled by Hepworth. H. B. Warner, well-known movie star, put on a single run before he was bowled by Payne.

Payne and Hepworth took five and three wickets, respectively, while Walsh, Hollywood fast bowler, took three for 44 runs.

Menow Wins Going Away---Far Away

You'll probably have to twist your head from side to side like a spectator at a tennis match to take in this picture of Menow winning the $40,550 Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs, Boston, from five crack horses, including the mighty War Admiral. Over at the right, you see jockey Nick Wall ploughing Hal Price Headley's colt through the fetlock-deep mud to win eight lengths ahead of the pack. Now turn 'way round to the left, and you'll see what was supposed to be Menow's competition. They are Busy K, who came in second, War Minstrel, third, and War Admiral, fourth, in his first defeat since October 10, 1936.

Two Helens Not Enemies

Famous Tennis Players Scout Reports of Bitterness Following Moody Triumph

LONDON (AP) — Nursing a blistered heel, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody remained abed in her West End hotel yesterday and refused to see visitors, while Great Britain buzzed with stories of her rivalry with Helen Jacobs.

Mrs. Moody won her eighth Wimbledon women's singles tennis title Saturday by defeating Miss Jacobs, 6-4, 6-0, in a match which left plenty of room for discussion. Miss Jacobs pulled a tendon in her right leg when the score stood at 4-4 in the first set and was hardly able to make the gesture of playing out the match while Mrs. Moody smashed shot after shot beyond her reach.

Sympathy for Miss Jacobs dominated the stories and comment on the tennis finals which were featured in most London newspapers.

Both Helens had to answer a lot of questions from reporters and both were about equally annoyed.

"This is all foolishness," Mrs. Moody tartly replied to queries. "I have no wish to discuss it. People can say what they like."

Miss Jacobs, resting in an isolated country retreat, was inclined to be more communicative.

NO ILL FEELING

"Honestly, Mrs. Moody and I never have exchanged an ill word on or off the courts. I know of no bitterness Saturday. No, she didn't call on me in my dressing-room. Why not? Oh, I don't know. I went to the door of her cubicle—no I didn't go right in—and she was quite right in rushing through the game."

Galento Ranked As Leading Contender

New Jersey Heavyweight Placed Next to Louis; Canadians Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tony Galento, the New Jersey bartender, stood next to Joe Louis today in a new rating of heavyweights by the National Boxing Association.

Harvey L. Miller, chairman of the N.B.A. rating committee, said Galento won the No. 1 challenger's spot by his "consistent knockout wins and the fact that he is willing and anxious to meet Joe Louis or any other heavyweight, Baer or Farr preferred."

Other heavyweights were ranked behind Galento in this order: Max Baer, Tammy Farr, Bob Pastor, Max Schmelling, Gunnar Baarlund, Roscoe Toles, Clarence (Red) Burman, Al McCoy and Nathan Mann.

The flyweight title was declared vacant. Champion Benny Lynch was deposed because he weighed 118½ pounds, 6½ over the limit, in a recent bout with Jackie Jurich.

Four Canadian fighters were recognized, two of them in the bantamweight class. Winnipeg's Johnny Gaudes was ranked seventh in the division, with Baby Yack of Toronto next in line as a contender for the title held by Sixto Escobar of Puerto Rico.

BERGER EIGHTH

Although he is generally considered a lightweight, Maxie Berger of Montreal was placed eighth in the welterweight division ruled by Henry Armstrong of Los Angeles.

Claimant to the Canadian light weight title, Maxie, weighed 140 pounds for most of his bounts in New York. The Canadian welter king, Frankie Genovese of Toronto, who recently challenged for Armstrong's title, was not listed.

Tiger Terry Warrington, belting negro from Liverpool, N.S., rounded out the Canadian foursome to gain contender recognition by the N.B.A. He was listed 10th in the light-heavyweight class, which has another negro as champion, John Henry Lewis of Phoenix, Ariz.

VICTORIA CLUB CAPTURES CUP

Defeats Pitzer and Nex Nine 10 to 6 in Deciding Humphries Cup Battle

With Ray Maitland, their star hurler performing splendidly on the hillock all evening, the Victoria Ball Club last night handed Pitzer and Nex a 10 to 6 setback in a sudden-death game for possession of the A. E. Humphries Cup at the Athletic Park.

Pitzer and Nex secured a two-run lead in the second when three walks and a costly infield boot allowed Scott and Emery to cross the home plate. Held scoreless for four frames, Victoria Club brought their heavy field artillery into action in the fifth and hammered in a quintette of markers to pave their way to victory. They added a pair of runs in the sixth and three in the eighth. Pitzer and Nex bagged two more in the sixth and a like number in the last of the ninth to account for their six markers.

Maitland was in fine form on the hillock and his performance was one of the best seen at the Athletic Park for some time. He struck out 18 and allowed six hits, which was three less than the clubmen collected from Lonnie Murray's offerings. Murray struck out eight.

Boy Killed When Auto Racers Crash

HO-HO-KUS, N.J. — A 10-year-old boy was killed and 17 persons, all spectators, injured yesterday when two automobile racers locked wheels and plunged into the infield crowd at the Ho-Ho-Kus speedway's holiday races.

The boy, who died shortly after being admitted to Hackensack Hospital, was identified as Peter Thompson, 10, of Ridgewood, N.J., the boy's father, David, was in the same hospital in a critical condition.

The accident occurred as Fritz Brehm of Bayonee, N.J., and Henry Guerand of Newark, N.J., approached the starter's flag in ninth and tenth positions for the start of the 30-lap, 15-mile main event.

Vander Meer vs. Feller

CINCINNATI (AP)—The greats of baseball have started pouring in on this troubled town for tomorrow's annual all-star game between the two major leagues.

A sell-out crowd of 28,000, including 2,000 standees, is assured when the two star-spangled outfits meet tomorrow afternoon at Crosley Field.

About all the good burghers hope for from tomorrow's classic is that their lovely Vander Meer will outpitch Bobby Feller of Cleveland for the first three innings.

It will be a crime against the soverign state of Ohio if the two youngsters are not given the lead-off assignments. They probably will be, but it would cause no great shock to many observers if Joe McCarthy, manager-for-a-day of the American League beauties, led with either Lefty Gomez or Red Ruffing of his own New York Yankees.

Old-time Greats Stage Ball Game

Cleveland's World Champs of 1920 Beat Famous Stovall Crew of 1908

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland turned back the pages of baseball history Sunday at League Park to give its 1938 pennant-mad fans a glimpse of its two greatest teams of the past.

Nearly 7,000 persons came out to see Tris Speaker's 1920 world's champions battle the Naps of 1908, lead by George Stovall because illness kept 1908 Manager Larry Lajoie at home. The "youngsters" won the game 8 to 0.

Their batting eyes somewhat dimmed and their stride a bit slower, the former greats of Cleveland baseball hadn't lost an ounce of their spirit.

Elmer Smith drove a home run over the right-field wall in the seventh inning, and recalled to fans his performance in the 1920 series when he homered with the bases filled to beat Brooklyn.

Speaker started the same line-up that won that year. Stanley Covelskie hurled his famed spitter into the glove of Steve O'Neill. The infield had "Doc" Johnston at first, Bill Wamby of triple-play fame at second, Joe Sewell at short and Larry Gardner at third. Charley Jamieson, Speaker and Smith started in the outfield.

Jimmy Bagby and Walter Mails, the other two leading pitchers of the championship club, also took a turn on the mound.

Cy Young unlimbered his 71-year-old arm for the Naps and retired the side scoreless in the one inning he pitched. Big Ed Walsh, Glenn Liebhardt and other heroes of the past followed him to the mound.

The Naps started Joe Birmingham, Bill Hinchman and Elmer Flick in the outfield; Stovall, George Perring, Roger Peckinpaugh and Bill Gradley in the infield. Among their catchers were Harry Bemis, Paddy Livingston and Nig Clark.

SOFTBALLERS PLAY TO TIE

Esquimalt and Young Liberals Battle 11 Innings to 9 to 9 Draw

Esquimalt Athletic Club and Young Liberals wound up an 11-inning struggle last evening in a 9 to 9 deadlock after a keenly-fought B section softball scrap at Victoria West Park. The clubmen pushed across a brace of runs in the eighth to even the count at 8 to 8 and both clubs added another run in the tenth.

Esquimalt was in front, 3 to 1, at the end of the third session, but Liberals came back with a pair of markers in their half of the next innings to knot the score. With the aid of Coates' four-base knock, Young Liberals grabbed a three-run lead in their half of the fifth only to have the dockers even the count in the next session.

Liberals rocketed into the lead again with two runs in the seventh but the athletic club was not to be outdone and came back with the tieing runs in the eighth. The scoring ended in the tenth when each team got a lone run.

At Reynolds Road, Colwood, B section leaders, took the measure of McIntyre and Harding, 12 to 4. The woodmen established an early lead and were never in danger.

The most lop-sided fixture of the evening saw Hollywood Club set back Spencers, 24 to 9, at Savory Park.

Cleveland Defeated Twice

Indians Drop Pair to Detroit As Yankees Win and Draw With Washington

If you're a New York fan and a believer in baseball tradition, you can look forward with some confidence today to a repetition of the "subway" world series of the last two years. If you're a Cleveland or Pittsburgh follower, you have just about as much ground for hoping to see your team on top.

The old rule is that the team on top after July 4 is the one that will win the pennant.

The Indians were saved or the Yankees were "robbed"—according to how you look at it—when New York and Washington wound up in a 4 to 4 tie after 13 innings of their second game yesterday. The Yanks had won the first, 10 to 5, for their ninth straight victory. Cleveland, running into Detroit Tigers who were smarting from three losses at St. Louis, took a double setback, 7 to 3 and 5 to 2. The net result was to leave the two clubs tied for the lead, each with 41 victories and 25 losses.

On the National League side the New York Giants preserved the lead they gained early in the season by walloping Brooklyn Dodgers twice, 3 to 0 and 16 to 1. But Pittsburgh's Pirates, moving up under full steam, showed how to win tough ones by beating Cincinnati Reds 2 to 1 and 3 to 2. That gave them seven straight triumphs and 20 games won by a one run margin this season.

Led by Joe DiMaggio, who made three hits in each game including a homer in the second, the Yanks hit hard until they met up with Pete Appleton in the extra innings. Pete came in after the Senators had tied the score in the ninth and hurled no-hit ball until darkness forced a halt.

FELLER IS WILD

Cleveland, meanwhile, got only 11 safeties off Elden Auker and Harry Eisenstat. Bobby Feller's wildness was too much for even homers by Ken Keltner and one by Moose Solters in the opener while Charley Gehringer's four bagger with two on in the seventh won the nightcap for Detroit.

The twin triumph sent the Tigers into fourth place ahead of Washington while Chicago White Sox moved into sixth past the Philadelphia Athletics. The Pale Hose, on a five-run rally in the fifth and Jack Knott's six-hit flinging, knocked off the St. Louis Browns 5 to 4 and 5 to 1. Philadelphia took a pair of beatings from Boston Red Sox, 8 to 5 and 5 to 2, as its weakening mound staff gave up 25 blows.

Chicago's third place Cubs slipped a little further back when they divided a pair of 4 to 3 decisions with St. Louis Cardinals. Boston Bees and Philadelphia Phillies also broke even in the Phils' first "home" game at Shibe Park. Five runs in the eighth gave the Bees the opener 10 to 5 and Claude Passeau's flinging paved the way for Philadelphia's 10 to 2 win.

"Grandfather Clocks"

A few years ago a member of the "Liars' Club" told a story which many persons thought was funny. He said he had a "grandfather clock" so old that the shadow of its pendulum wore a hole through the wooden back of its case!

While that was meant as only a joke, some of the tall hall clocks of our great-grandfathers

In museums and in some homes, grandfather clocks may be seen and examined. Often they still keep excellent time. They first came into use about 250 years ago.

The invention of the pendulum came at a time when our continent was still a wilderness. The pendulum, a long arm with a weight on the lower end, was connected with the hands of the clock. As it swung back and forth, it caused the hands to move slowly but evenly around the face of the clock.

To make the pendulum keep swinging, a weight was hung on the clock in such a manner that it would fall slowly. Usually one "winding of the clock" that is, the raising of the weight—made it go for eight days.

When the case is opened, you can see the pendulum of the grandfather clock and the weight which makes it go. The rope that holds the weight may be seen running through pulleys. Sometimes the case and all the "works" are made of wood.

Directions for putting up the old-fashioned clocks were given to buyers. In one case the buyer was told:

"Loosen the pendulum, observing that it hangs free in the case . . . Put the pendulum in motion. The weight is already wound up. Set it with the minute hand, which may be moved backward or forward. To make the timepiece go faster, raise the pendulum ball by the screw at the bottom. To make it go slower, lower the ball with the same screw. . . ."

Hand-carved decorations and inlays on the clock cases were in some cases works of art. The clocks stod in the hall, where guests entering the home could see them and study the workmanship.

What stories a grandfather clock might tell if it could talk! So might other curious clocks which were popular hundreds of years ago. Clock-makers developed special styles in their clocks. One kind was called "the-wag-on-the-wall." This name came from the fact that the pendulum had no case over it and could be seen "wagging" on the wall.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX — What can you do with a woman who makes all of her neighbors nursemaids for her 4-year-old boy? If she wishes to go downtown for the day or to a bridge party or a club, she just drives by and dumps the child out and says: "I'll call for Johnny when I come back." There is no previous request, no consideration for the plans of others, just the bland assumption that it is our duty to take her responsibility whenever she wishes to be relieved of it. Any of us would be glad to be accommodating occasionally, but none of us are willing to be imposed upon indefinitely. How could you handle a situation like this? MRS. J.J.

Answer: That is easy. All that the worm has to do is to turn when it gets tired of being trampled upon. Summon up your nerve and tell the woman you are tired of taking care of the child and that she will have to do her own baby-tending. If she still persists in foisting him upon you, appeal to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. That will take care of the neglectful mother.

One of the most amazing things in the world is that virtually all of us permit ourselves to be imposed upon in one way or another by people whom we know to be nothing but deadbeats. We groan and moan and complain about Aunt Sally, who is simply lousy with money, using our houses as a convenient stopping place when she wants to come to town just because she is to stingy to pay a hotel bill. But we don't shut our doors in her face. We let her continue to victimize us. We let Tom hold us up for little loans that we know he never intends to repay. We are sore as the mischief about it, but we go on lending to him.

And it never apparently occurs to us that we could stop all these impositions if we had a particle of courage, and that we don't deserve any sympathy for being pusillanimous cowards.

DOROTHY DIX.

Radio Teaching To Be Continued

Minister of Education Announces School Programs Arranged For Term

Teaching by radio is to become a permanent part of British Columbia's school system.

Started in an experimental way last fall, radio instruction has proved so successful that it will be resumed next term, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, announced this morning.

The educational programs will be released through CBR and affiliated stations and prepared by the school radio committee of the Department of Education. Next term's programs will start about October 3.

Subjects to be covered are music appreciation, social studies, elementary science and physical education. Two half-hour broadcasts a week were used in the last term's experiment.

"The radio instruction has proved valuable to all schools, but particularly to those in rural areas," Dr. Weir said. "About 150 rural schools were equipped with sets and tuned in on the broadcasts.

"There are some difficulties, such as dead areas for radio, but generally speaking the plan is widely appreciated by both teachers and children.

"In subjects such as music it is highly valuable, because it makes a higher standard of instruction possible. All teachers cannot be experts in music, but by radio one teacher can instruct many thousands of pupils."

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir will arrive here September 1 to begin their tour of British Columbia, city hall officials said today.

Their Excellencies and their entourage will stay here four days, and will pay a brief visit to Victoria before leaving for the interior of the province.

PILOT SCHOOL PLAN DROPPED

LONDON (CP)—Lord Stanley, Secretary for the Dominions, told the House of Commons today that "some informal exploratory discussion took place" between the British government and the Canadian government with a view to establishing a British training school for air pilots in the Dominion.

Lord Stanley added that in the light of those conversations it "was decided not to pursue the matter further."

The minister's statement was in reply to Sir Henry Page-Croft, Conservative, who asked if the government had sounded out the Canadian government on such a project and if a favorable reply had been received.

Strike Clash At Suez Canal

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Eight foremen were wounded today in a clash with 700 Suez Canal workers who were starting a sit-down strike, seeking higher wages.

The workers, employees of the Suez Canal Company, occupied repair shops at Port Said and the power-house at Ismailia. Police surrounded the buildings.

VANCOUVER (CP) — City wholesalers will be able to operate from 5.30 a.m. until 4 p.m. during June next year, according to a city council decision made last night. This year the regulations called for 6.30 a.m. opening. The change was made at the request of fruit and vegetable wholesalers, who claimed June produce shipments were "extremely" heavy.

Kiwanis Hear Social Worker

Hamilton Child Welfare Director Gives Address at Luncheon Meeting

Kiwanis Club had as guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel today, Ed Beaumont, formerly of Victoria and now director of Child Welfare for the city of Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. Beaumont left Victoria approximately 20 years ago when he took up a social science course at the university at Toronto.

In his address he said that child welfare had advanced in the past 20 years. He touched on institutions, delinquency, adoptions and children born out of wedlock.

In practically every city of Canada there were institutions like orphanages where cast-out children were cared for. He said that in his opinion there would be no such institutions at the end of the next ten years. Orphanages will then be a thing of the past and these institutions will be used only for specialized care. The private home placings were gradually doing away with orphanages.

Adoptions today were carried out after careful investigation both of the person adopting the child and the child itself. This is done in an effort to suitably place the child and thus insure greater happiness for both the new parents and the child.

Delinquent lads were sent to the industrial school 20 years ago and severely punished for crimes they committed. In dealing with delinquent cases in this day a different system was used. The cause for delinquency is first sought and then corrected, but not by severe punishment. Proper investigation showed that the life the parents lived was the cause of their child's wrongdoing.

Approximately 10,000 babies were born in Canada during the past year out of wedlock. Up to a few years ago the babies were cast off and left to die but now they were given a chance in life. Mr. Beaumont said that the word illegitimate was gradually being forgotten and the babies were brought up as any other child. The mothers were also re-established in the community and were not driven away. This work was done in a quiet manner in the social service.

Jack MacFarlane, president, was in the chair. Sid G. Cave was introduced by Bob Hogarth as a new member and Magistrate Henry Hall addressed him on behalf of the Kiwanis Club's rules.

Cuts For Steel Office Workers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, United States Steel subsidiary, disclosed today a reduction had been made in the working hours of some "white collar" workers in the company's plants, with a corresponding cut in salaries.

The number affected by the reduction was not announced, but a spokesman said it applied to "a few workers in most of the plants." He emphasized that it was not a general reduction for all office workers, but rather a modified application of a "share the work" program similar to that in effect for mill workers.

REPORTS ON SEWER ISSUE

Deputy Attorney-General Recommends Improvements in Saanich and City

Sewer improvements both in the city and Saanich as well as a move to discourage bathing at the Gorge beach are recommended by Eric Pepler, deputy attorney-general, in a report following an investigation of certain boundary locations in May by city, Saanich and provincial government officials.

The report was forwarded to the City Hall by H. E. Young, provincial health officer, today.

"Dealing with the situation in Saanich," the report states in part, "the trouble arises from the overflow from septic tanks flowing through open drains or ditches onto city property. In some cases the fluid was discolored, and although there was no apparent odor I think the situation is an unhealthy one, especially in the summer time when flies are prevalent."

The report continued with a recommendation the municipality of Saanich be requested to take such steps as are necessary to eliminate this nuisance by covering up the drains where they exist within the territorial limits of the municipality. Similar action by the city is suggested where the drains exist in Victoria.

"Dr. Cull also suggests that Saanich be requested to install filter beds in connection with these offensive spots to purify the sewage, and in this I concur.

OFFENSIVE SPOTS

"The places I particularly refer to are: On Burnside Road at the junction of the city and the municipality.

"At the junction of Alpha Street, off Burnside Road, where the railway tracks cross the Alpha Road allowance and at Rogers woodyard.

"Tolmie Avenue at Maple Avenue; at the Gorge bathing beach on both sides of the Island Highway.

"With regard to the situation in Victoria," the report continued, "we were shown an open sewer emptying into the harbor on the west side of Government Street between Lemon Gonnason's mill and the gas plant. Open sewage was being discharged from this sewer into the tide flats at this point, which was very offensive, and the city should be asked to remedy this situation. There were also some open privies in the woodyards on the harbor such as Cameron's Lumber Mill and Moore and Whittington's, and although I believe these mills have water closets, the open privies are in use and should be discontinued.

"Regarding the use of the Gorge bathing beach, it was noticed that there are a number of shacks located on the foreshore of the inner harbor in fairly close proximity to the bathing beach, and I think that bathing at this beach should be discouraged and the city should be asked to erect a sign at the beach warning bathers that bathing in this location is considered unhealthy."

The report further stated the time was not far distant when the inner regions of Saanich being built up extensively should be required to have a sewage system connected with that of the city.

Pte. Nicholson Leads Riflemen

Local Man Heads Field of 80 in B.C. Rifle Association Meet

BLAIR RIFLE RANGE, North Vancouver (CP)—Sharpshooting Private Edward Nicholson of Esquimalt Garrison today led a field of 80 of British Columbia's finest shots at the 60th annual British Columbia Rifle Association shoot.

Unperturbed by a slight right wind, Private Nicholson took the lead in the first range of the Westminster Corporation match by posting a possible 35 at 200 yards.

Sergt. J. A. Gordon of the Royal Canadian Air Force and Private C. P. Sissons of the Irish Fusiliers Vancouver Regiment tied for second place with 34s.

A slight breeze made shooting conditions "tricky" for the marksmen.

Tyro H. A. Loyst of Vancouver Rifle Association copped first place in the Woodward match by carding 33 out of 35 at 200 yards, to nose out W. Nelson of the British Columbia Dragoons Rifle Association and Air-Commander Craftsman E. Spence of the R.C.A.F., who turned in 32s.

Private Nicholson later made it a double win in the morning shoot by scoring a 45 out of 50 to win the Logan match.

Private H. Thorburn and Sergt. J. C. Garff, both of Esquimalt Garrison Rifle Association, tied with 43 for second place.

Tyros match — A. J. Loyst, V.R.A., 33; W. Nelson, British Columbia Dragoons Rifle Association, 32; Aircraftsman L. D. Spence, R.C.A.F. (non-permanent), 32; Lance-Cpl. J. E. Lowe, B.C. Regiment, 32; P. H. Spicer, V.R.A., 32.

War Minstrel Beats Seabiscuit

Pacific Coast Champion Trails Man o' War's Grandson at Arlington

CHICAGO (AP)—War Minstrel, grandson of Man o' War, kicked dust in the face of the mighty Seabiscuit yesterday beating the Pacific Coast champion by three and a half lenghts in the $10,000 added Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington Park.

A record crowd of 50,000 made Seabiscuit, owned by Charles S. Howard, of San Francisco, an odds on favorite for the mile and a furlong race.

On a slow track he did not fancy, Seabiscuit ran a dull race, but bounced out of ninth position at the head of the stretch to close gamely behind War Minstrel, entry of Mrs. Emil Denemark, of Chicago.

Arabs Arrow finished third, a half-length back of Seabiscuit, with Main Man fourth in a field of 10. War Minstrel, ridden by Jockey Ira Hanford, covered the mile and a furlong in 1.54 1-5.

Mrs. Denemark's entry of War Minstrel and Melodist, which ran last, paid $18 to win.

The race had a gross value of $12,040, with $9,010 going to Mrs. Denemark.

Howard announced Seabiscuit would be shipped to Los Angeles today to run in the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup Stakes, July 16. He will be returned to Arlington Park to start in the $25,000 Gold Cup on the closing day of the meeting.

NORTH SHORE WINS SOCCER

VANCOUVER — North Shore United humbled Vancouver Radials 3 to 0 Saturday, and marched into the final round of the British Columbia series in the Dominion soccer playdowns against Vancouver St. Andrews.

St. Andrews, who won the other final berth with a 6 to 3 victory over Esquimalt here Friday, will go against United in the final here Saturday.

Trevor Harvey headed in a first-half goal to give United a 1 to 0 edge at the interval, and Basil Robinson and Alex Christie added the other two goals in the final half.

United played ragged football in the first half and Harvey's goal, which came midway through the period when he headed in a corner kick from Christie, was unearned on the play.

Radials never managed to threaten seriously in the second half as North Shore tightened their defences and played generally better.

About midway through the period, Basil Robinson rapped in United's second goal, following a three-man combination drive into Radial territory.

BOXERS GOING TO AUSTRALIA

Two Canadian Boys, Eddie Carroll and Joey Lemieux to Fight "Down Under"

NEW YORK, (CP) — Two young Canadian boxers soon will be sailing the high seas to seek fame and fortune "down under." Eddie Carroll, Ottawa middleweight, and Joey Lemieux, Edmundston, N.B., and Montreal welter, have been signed for three bouts in Australia.

Both considered crowd-pleasing fighters by Promoter Jackie Clark of Sydney, Australia, the Canadians will sail from San Francisco with George Brothers, New York negro light-heavyweight.

Clark selected Lemieux, 23-year-old French Canadian, after watching him in workouts here. He saw Carroll on a previous trip to the United States and considers that now the tall Ottawa boy has put on weight he can develop into an outstanding middleweight.

The fighters will receive 25 per cent of the gates. Clark says first-class bouts draw 17,000 fans regularly with $25,000 gates.

Akahiloa Returns Record Price at Lansdowne; Nego Ele Takes Feature

VANCOUVER—Nego Ele got up in final strides in the Saratoga Special, feature event of the Lansdowne Park racing card yesterday, to win in a photograph finish with Saxon Baby and Vade Retra.

Nego Ele, a contender throughout the four and one-half furlongs for two-year-olds, paid off at $14.15, $6.50 and $5.15 in the pari-mutuel machines. Saxon Baby and Vade Retra finished in that order.

Akahloa, a rank outsider, took second place behind Cold South in the six-furlong second race to return $661.30 for a $2 place bet, believed one of the highest place prices in the history of the track. Wittora was third. No place tickets were sold on Akahiloa, but one better collected $340.20 on a $3 combination across the board on the long-shot.

Golden Token scored an upset victory in the first race, barging past the odds-on favorite, Easter Kid, in the stretch to return $52.20, $13.10 and $6.80. Happy Returns was third.

FINE NOVEL AT DOMINION

"White Banners" By Lloyd C. Douglas Opens Engagement Here

A glorious successor to "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light" — "White Banners" also adapted from a best-selling novel by Lloyd C. Douglas—is opened today at the Dominion Theatre. It is a moving tale, entertaining and full of idealistic fervor so characteristic of Douglas' work.

Like its two predecessors, which enjoyed such huge popular success, "White Banners" has a message to convey—the message of courage in the face of adversity. But the film does no preaching—it simply lets the extremely capable cast live a thrilling human story that carries its message, by implication, straight to the hearts of the audience.

That the story seems to be lived rather than acted is a tribute to a splendid cast. Fay Bainter, who has long been celebrated as a stage player, made her first screen impression with "Quality Street" and followed up with her appealing character role in "Jezebel."

"Robin Hood" To Open Tomorrow

Filmed entirely in Technicolor, "The Adventures of Robin Hood," starring the dashing Errol Flynn, is coming tomorrow to the Atlas Theatre.

Long-awaited, this beloved legend, concerning the gallant deeds of a Saxon noble who turned outlaw with a band of followers and plundered the rich Normans to feed and protect the poor and oppressed, has long been a favorite to moviegoers of all ages.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

When James Finlayson, who has a featured role with Laurel and Hardy in the feature comedy, "Way Out West," now at the Columbia Theatre, is preparing for a scene before the camera it sounds like a quarterback getting into action.

The director starts out, "Give 'em 69 and 92 in this, Jim." It seems that the actor from the old school has all his actions and expressions numbered. Finlayson has been in so many Laurel and Hardy comedies that they know him like a book. The important number is 108 which calls for the extreme in tumbles and falls.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Hollywood, which has searched the world over for novel and interesting motion picture backgrounds, brings a new setting to the screen in "Port of Seven Seas," now at the Capitol Theatre, for this picture has the colorful and unusual French seaport of Marseille as its locale.

Wallace Beery, in a role arrestingly different from his more recent "bad man" portrayals, stars in the new drama as the rough but tender-hearted owner of a waterfront cafe.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Hollywood romance, as interpreted by Bobby Clark and Ella Logan in Samuel Goldwyn's technicolor musical, "The Goldwyn Follies" at the Oak Bay Theatre, is a rough and tumble catch-as-catch-can business.

Clark plays a movie casting director, while Ella plays his jealous girl friend.

PLAZA THEATRE

Edward G. Robinson one of Hollywood's most cultured persons, is now at the Plaza Theatre in Columbia's "Thunder in the City." Robinson is a man of arts, a connoisseur of music, a collector of painting and etchings, and a linguist with six foreign languages at his command.

LAWN BOWLING

Victoria Lawn Bowling Club members played host yesterday to a squad of players from Bellingham. There were three rinks of men and two of women.

After an interesting match the Americans scored an 11-point victory, 84 to 73.

KISMET WINS DINGHY EVENT

"R" Class Boats Race Today at Vancouver For Isherwood Trophy

VANCOUVER—(CP) — Lady Van, winner yesterday of the coveted Sir Thomas Lipton perpetual trophy for "R" class boats, was put in readiness today for an attempt to win another cup in competition with her two Seattle rivals, Lady Pat and Sir Tom, at the Pacific International Yachting Association regatta here.

She will meet them in the first two of three races for the Isherwood Trophy today. The third will be sailed Wednesday, last day of the meet which began Sunday.

Angelica and Circe, Seattle, were the only two entries in the "AA" cruisers rase yesterday, and placed in that order. Mahero, Seattle, was the only "A" cruiser entered.

Gamine, Vancouver, won the "B" cruisers race, with Gwendolyn and Susan, both Seattle, placing second and third.

The wind was not good enough for the special sloops class, and their race was called on the first round, with Spirit II of Vancouver ahead, Oslo of Seattle second and We're Here and Tola of Seattle third and fourth.

"CC" cruisers ended up with Triki of Vancouver in the lead, followed by Ariki and Pixie of Vancouver, and Gypsy Heart of Seattle.

In the Victoria division of the international dinghies race, Kismet (Herbert Gann) was first, Helen (John Todd) second, and Tern (Ken Walker) third. Amethyst headed the Vancouver division, with Hot Rum and Ginger close behind.

Catspaw of Seattle led the flatties in, with Silver Wings and Blue Wings, both Vancouver, at place and show. Charlotte Dill, Vancouver, skippered her Flamingo in ahead of the snipes, with Blue Boy of Vancouver second, and P.D.Q. (Skipper Griffin) of Victoria third.

College Boys On Long Canoe Trip

COMOX, B.C. (CP)—Two California college boys were in this east coast Vancouver Island centre today after a two-week trip from Seattle in a 17-foot canoe.

Martin Gilberg and William Enwick paddled their tiny craft into the harbor Sunday night, and said they enjoyed the trip, "but it was hard work."

They hope to continue their voyage through Seymour Narrows and Queen Charlotte Sound to Alaska waters.

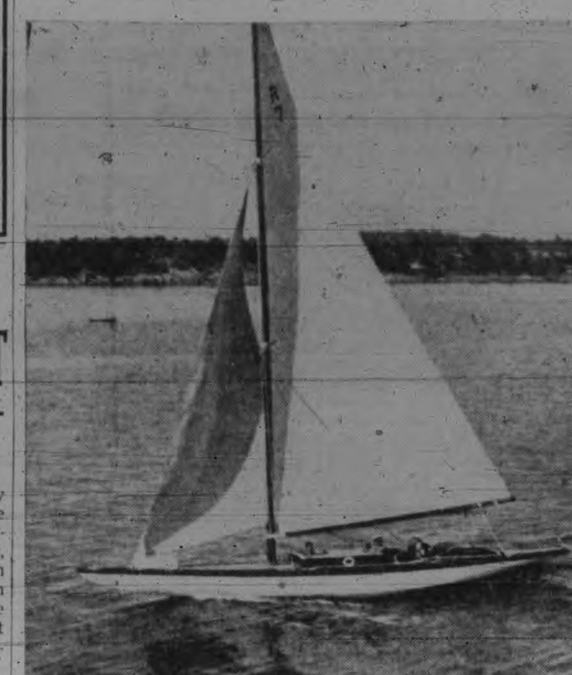
Hamber Sloop Again Supreme



LADY VAN.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Lady Van, trim white sloop owned by British Columbia's Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Eric W. Hamber, yesterday retained the Lipton Trophy for R class boats.

Skippered by H. E. Wiley, the graceful craft successfully beat off two Seattle challengers.

The Lady Van finished the morning sail twice over the six-mile triangular English Bay course in three hours 37 minutes and 44 seconds, ahead of Sir Tom and Lady Pat.

Late in the afternoon the Vancouver sloop tracked into the final race, leading home Sir Tom and Lady Pat in the same order they finished in the morning.

Sunday, the Vancouver craft knifed through the waters of the bay with a fairly brisk breeze in two hours 33 minutes and 30 seconds to start her successful trophy defence.

Yesterday morning's times were considerably slower as the skippers of the three crafts tacked about to make the best of a fitful breeze.

Destroyers At Comox Today

Canadian destroyers Fraser and St. Laurent shifted yesterday from Vancouver, where they spent the Dominion Day holiday, to Comox, and will remain there for two weeks, while their crews engage in musketry practice.

H.M.S. York of West Indies squadron of the British navy has sailed from Bermuda for Victoria. She is due here July 25 and will remain until August 9.

Pioneer C.P.R. Engineer Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Conway Edward Cartwright, retired divisional engineer for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company here and member of a prominent United Empire Loyalist family, died at his Vancouver home yesterday. He was 74.

A native of Toronto he was graduated from Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., and served during the Riel Rebellion. He came here in 1897.

His father was the late Rev. Conway Cartwright of Kingston. Surviving are a brother, Brig.-Gen. Cartwright, C.B., C.M.G., of Toronto, and three sisters, Mrs. F. B. Emery of New Westminster, B.C., Mrs. A.G. Matheson of Toronto and Mrs. R. H. H. Alexander of Vancouver.

Funeral services will be held here Wednesday.

Around the Docks

The V.M.D. was this morning awarded a contract for approximately $1,000 for temporary repairs to the Dominion Government's fisheries patrol steamer Givenchy, damaged when she ran ashore off the east coast of Vancouver Island some days ago.

The work will take about three days, and will be done on the firm's Bay Street slipway. Permanent repairs, which will cost about $5,000, will be done later in the season.

When she sails from Victoria early tomorrow evening for Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney, the Canadian Australasian liner Niagara will take out 375 passengers, including members of three specially conducted tour parties.

With a small parcel of cargo for discharge from California, the coast freighter Kingsley reached Victoria late this afternoon and was scheduled to proceed to Vancouver this evening.

British freighter British Monarch is at Ogden Point today loading 1,000,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber for the United Kingdom.

King Brothers expect she will be joined overnight by the freighters Boxhill, Ramon de Larrinaga and Columbia, making four ships at the Canadian piers in the morning.

A. P. Moffat, local agent for the Royal Mail Lines was advised this morning the company's new motorship Lochavon would sail from London August 9, being due at Victoria September 15.

The next ship of this fleet due here is the Narenta, which is expected July 21.

Ss. Princess Victoria, the B. C. Coast Service's excursion ship for the summer, is today carrying a holiday party from Vancouver to Jervis Inlet. Tomorrow she will take a cruise from Victoria to the Gulf Islands; on Thursday she will go from Victoria to Bellingham; on Friday she will come here from Vancouver with an excursion and on Saturday and Sunday, as usual each week-end, will be on the Vancouver-Nanaimo - Newcastle Island service.

VANCOUVER—Canadian National Railways brought close to 1,500 passengers to Vancouver at the week-end, as the opening of July marked the commencement of holiday traffic in earnest.

At the same time the steamships branch had two capacity sailings to Alaska, Ss. Prince Robert and Ss. Prince George taking 500 passengers between them.

On the Prince George were three tour parties, two from Chicago and one from San Francisco. The California Christian Endeavour party of 100 persons was with the group from the south.

WHEAT OFF IN QUIET SESSION

WINNIPEG (CP) — Western Canada rainfall, heavy hedging in United States markets and low Liverpool values depressed Winnipeg wheat futures today. Prices were 2⅛ to 1⅜ lower with July 97⅜, October 78¾, November 78 and December 76⅜ cents.

The session was generally dull. Export business was thin with Canadian wheat confined to loads of old crop in eastern positions.

Liverpool closed ¾ to 1⅛ lower on cheaper Canadian c.i.f. offers. Buenos Aires was off ½ cent at noon.

Barley was easier from the start. Oats was routine and flax neglected.

World wheat shipments for the week were 10,367,000 compared with 6,972,000 last week and 9,224,000 a year ago. North America contributed 2,670,000 compared with 2,093,000 last week and 3,601,000 a year ago.

CHICAGO — Record breaking big receipts from domestic winter crop harvest yields tumbled Chicago wheat prices down virtually 3 cents a bushel late today.

Announcement of 3,082,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply total counted also as a weight on value. Estimates were current that about half the arrivals of new wheat were going into storage to await official notice of the government wheat loan basis.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 2⅝ to 2¾ lower compared with Saturday's finish, July 70½ to 70⅜, September 71¾ to 71⅞, corn ¼ off to ⅛ up, July 57⅜ to 57½, September 58⅝ to 58¾, and oats ⅛ to ⅜ down.

Profit-taking Clips Prices 1 to 3 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit-sellers had their innings with the stock market today and, at the worst, leading issues were knocked down one to more than three points.

Activity was greatest just after the opening when the list churned rapidly and, for a brief period, the ticker tape fell behind. From the first hour on volume dwindled appreciably and at the close quotations were above low marks in many cases. Transfers were around 1,700,000 shares.

Steels, motors and specialties, star performers of one of the quickest recoveries in market history, were among the first to retreat. Rails and utilities gave a fairly good account of themselves.

Traders returned from their lengthy holiday without any noticeable wilting of optimism, but most decided to cash in on the belief the recent sharp and almost uninterrupted rally called for at least a sizeable technical correction.

Bonds did a bit better than stocks, although most were down at the last. Foreign currencies slipped in terms of the dollar.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

Thirty industrials — 136.52, off 2.01.

Twenty rails — 27.21, off 0.36.

Fifteen utilities—21.83, off 0.41.

Forty bonds—87.96, off 0.03.

Narrow Losses In Last Hour

MONTREAL — Prices dipped quietly in late trading in the stock exchange today, but changes generally were narrow.

Metals gave up losses of more than a point. Noranda slipped 1⅜, Nickel a little more than a point and Smelters a point. Utilities were mostly easier. Shawinigan and Brazilian and Montreal Power each gave up small fractions, but Gatineau Power gained ¼.

Late Rally After Early Weakness

TORONTO (CP) — After absorbing a considerable run of profit-taking on the recent rise, the Toronto market turned firm late in the afternoon and closed on the upward incline.

At the close losses of about a point were showing for International Nickel, Smelters and Noranda and Hudson Bay dropped ¼ point. Waite-Amulet, Sudbury Basin, Sherritt, Aldermac and Falconbridge declined 5 to 10 cents. Eldorado was a bit heavy around 2.12.

Dome took a drop of 1½ and Lake Shore posted a small loss. Perron, MacLeod-Cockshutt, Toburn Uchi, Macassa and Little Long Lac were weak. Premier, Straw Lake, Towagamac, Sylvanite and Stadacona firmed narrowly and Naybob moved in heavy volume with little net change of price.
